MICHAELIS IS CHARGED WITH FALSEHOOD

LONDON, Aug. 24.—Special despatches from Amsterdam represent the scene in the reichstag main committee Wednesday over Chancellor Michaelis' attitude on the peace resolution as a storm which would have resulted in ousting him from office in a democratic country. According to these accounts Dr. Michaelis was challenged to explain his real attitude toward the peace resolution because when he said July 19 he supported it, he added: "As I understand it."

This apparent qualification said Herr Michaelis' challengers, had been seized by the annexationists, who claimed that the chancellor was really on their side.

Dr. Michaelis, in replying, made a laborious explanation. He said differences of opinion were possible regarding

Negroes of 24th U. S. Infantry Fire Guns Promiscuously and Terrorize Residents of Houston, Texas—Governor Proclaims Martial Law—Rioters Claim Houston Police Officer Slapped Colored Woman's Face—Congressman Eagle of Texas Calls it a Tragic Blunder to Send Negro Soldiers to Southern Camps

HOUSTON, Texas, Aug. 24.—At 8 o'clock this morning Houston was quiet, no outbreaks having been reported since the rounding up of numerous negro soldiers who last night killed at least 12 persons and wounded 15.

All street cars carry armed guards, all selling ammunition are closed.

Capt. Maties, Illinois National Guard officer, who was killed by the negroes, was mutilated almost beyond recognition. Feeding among the Illinois troops is running high and regular from Fort Crockett at Galveston have been rushed here.

Marshal Law Declared

Martial law was proclaimed by Governor Ferguson, effective in Houston and vicinity, and early today the military authorities had the situation under control, although 70 of the negro soldiers were still missing.

The trouble is said to have started after some of the negro soldiers had complained of treatment accorded them by members of the Houston police force. About 9 o'clock some 50 negroes, later being joined by others, formed at their camps and began a march toward downtown Houston. Lights in residences along the way were shot out and a number of persons wounded as they sat inside their homes.

Major K. S. Suen, commanding the negro troops guarding Camp Logan, declared that he attempted to control the men when he saw what was about to happen, but they were beyond control and some 150 of them started to shoot promiscuously in the camp and soon scattered in every direction.

An attempt was made to kill him, Major Snow declared.

According to police reports the origin of the trouble was the arrest of a negro woman in a downtown section. A negro soldier asked that the prisoner be turned over to him and a refusal led to an argument, the soldier finally being taken to police headquarters.

A little later another negro soldier approached the policeman and asked concerning the first man. When told that the negro was at headquarters, more words followed and this negro also was sent to headquarters.

Previously the negroes had reported the slapping to their officers. A conference followed between Police Superintendent

FILLING VACANCY AT THE BARTLETT SCHOOL

There is considerable speculation as to how the school department will fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Carl D. Bartlett of the high school. Mr. Bartlett was a good teacher and specialized in German and advanced Latin. There are but few who can teach both these branches. But it is not alone in the instruction of these branches that Mr. Bartlett will be missed. He was a rigid disciplinarian and in this line he rendered great assistance to the principal, the late Cyrus W. Irish. It is alleged that he felt disappointed in not being elected principal and this was doubtless true. If that was his motive in leaving, his departure may relieve Principal Bixby of a very embarrassing situation.

It is generally conceded that Mr. Bixby, the new principal, will have a most difficult task on his hands in organizing the new staff with the opening of the term in September. The school is really too large to be properly handled by a single head and the fact that the accommodations offered by the old building are wholly inadequate, makes matters much worse.

The election of Mr. Bixby has left a vacancy for principal of the Bartlett grammar school. In that case the candidate will be named by Principal Mahoney of the Normal school as representing the state board of education to the approval of the school board.

The latter body of late has shown some disposition to pull away from the state board. But if the board pays the teachers of the Bartlett school it must have the privilege of nominating them. That is its fixed rule from which there is no departure in any city of the state.

OFFICIALS AWAIT ADVICE IN RUSSIA'S CASE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Administration officials today anxiously awaited official advice on the latest developments in Russia's acute internal situation, which appears to be further aggravated by the new German offensive launched against Riga.

The immediate salvation of the new democracy rests, it is believed here, in the action to be taken by the great national council, to be held in Moscow. The conservative elements of the nation are expected to attempt to force the provisional government to throw off the socialist domination of the soldiers and workmen's council.

PROTEST THE BARTLETT SCHOOL CONTRACTS

A special meeting of the members of the municipal council was held this morning at the request of Commissioner Warnock for the purpose of approving contracts for the construction of the proposed addition to the Bartlett school. The plumbing and gas piping, painting and heating and ventilating contracts were awarded and approved by the council, while those for the brick and masonry work and carpentry were held up, pending the time the contractors furnish bonds.

Patrick O'Hearn, who claimed he was the lowest bidder for the mason and brick contract, filed an objection to the granting of the contract to William Drapenau, and was given a hearing during which he claimed several times with Commissioner Warnock, who alleged that the figures of bids published in local newspapers were not given out by him (Mr. Warnock), but were manufactured by the newspapermen, a charge which was promptly refuted. Considerable business was transacted and the meeting adjourned at 12:30 o'clock.

The meeting was called to order by Mayor O'Donnell Commissioner Donnelly being absent. The latter came in later, however, but not in time to vote on the award of the contracts. The first matter taken up was the criminal session traverse jurors to court open in this city on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in September, and Commissioner Warnock was designated to draw the jurors, and the following names were given:

Joseph F. Boyd, 278 Concord street, manager.

Benjamin Reals, 994 Moody street, retired.

Paul A. Clark, 230 High street, salesman.

Wolfgang P. Calise, Jr., 773 Morrinnack street, druggist.

George M. Clark, 230 High street, contractor.

Jeffrey Cossette, 40 Sparks street, dealer.

The following garage petitions were read and hearings were set for Sept. 11: Richard L. Clark, 30 Tracy street; Thomas J. Phelps, 140-142 Bellevue street; Fredrick H. Loring, 4 Dudley court. Helen S. Livingston petitioned for a sidewalk of cinders and edgeworks opposite 53 Garden road and the petition was referred. Alvin G. Spicer and Craven Midgley petitioned for sidewalks of edgeworks and cinders in Eleventh street and the petition was referred. Evelyn Herman filed a claim for personal injuries, and it was referred to the city solicitor. The petition of Ethel M. Harris for a sidewalk of edgeworks and cinders at 118 Bellevue street was referred. The petition for electric lights in Boylston street, Madison and Thorndike streets and gas lights in Corey street and Willie and Riverside streets were granted.

Pawtucket Bridge Payment

John J. Dean was appointed a weigher of coal, hay, etc. A communication was received from the Pawtucket bridge and it was referred to Commissioner Morse. A communication was received from Jacques Bolvert in relation to the laying of sewers in High street and Bunker Hill avenue and it was referred to Commissioner Morse. An unsigned communication was received in relation to a defective sidewalk in Willie street and it was referred to Commissioner Morse.

Bartlett School Contracts

An order for the approval of the contract for the plumbing and gas piping of the addition to the Bartlett school to John J. Mulloney & Co., the lowest bidder being $19,518 was read, but the mayor said he would not vote for it because the order read "a contract between John J. Mulloney & Co. and Commissioner Morse." His Honor said the order should read "a contract between John J. Mulloney & Co. and the city of Lowell."

At this point City Solicitor Regan was called and when asked by Commissioner Warnock to explain the reading of the order he said the vote is identical with those used since the new charter. He said the contract is between the city and the contractor and the agency lies with Commissioner Warnock. "You could add 'the commissioner acting in behalf of the city,'" continued Mr. Regan. A recess of ten minutes was taken in order to have the order and all other similar orders changed.

On motion of Commissioner Morse it was voted to allow the City Iron foundry to lay a branch railroad track to Tanner street. The mayor then read the corrected order for the approval of the contract between John J. Mulloney & Co. and the commissioner of public property acting in behalf of the city of Lowell.

Mr. Mayor—John J. Mulloney & Co., the lowest bidders.

Mr. Warnock—"Yes sir."

The order was passed, the mayor voting against.

Mr. Mayor—"Have you any reason, Mr. Mayor, for voting against the granting of the contract?"

Mayor O'Donnell—"Yes sir, I am opposed to the project."

Mr. Mayor—"I noticed that when it came to the sealing of buildings for public improvements, the mayor always ducked and would not vote."

John Dwyer & Co. were granted the contract for the painting of the addition to the brick contract, $2582, the mayor again voting in the negative.

The contract for the heating and ventilating was granted to Carruth Bros. and the contract for the electrical work was granted to Tucker & Parker, whose bid was $1248.

Mr. O'Hearn in his bid stated that if the contract was not awarded ten days after the date of the bid the latter would be void. Commissioner Warnock said that Mr. O'Hearn also made exceptions to metal frames and doors in his bid, and accordingly the contract was awarded to Mr. Drapenau, whose bid had not yet reached city hall.

Mr. O'Hearn Protests

The mayor read a communication from Patrick O'Hearn in which he asked for an opportunity to be heard on the matter of the brick contract. Mr. O'Hearn was present and he gave an opportunity to speak. Mr. O'Hearn said that he had been in his opening remarks, "and I will insist on it. I put in my bid with several others under the head of masonry, etc., and I have put in a bond with me. If there is a bid lower than mine, I want to see it, and then I will keep quiet." Mr. O'Hearn then informed his listeners that his reputation as a contractor in Lowell is unblemished and he stated that when he erected the Highland school he came out ahead of time with his work and accordingly received $500 extra from the city. "I am a taxpayer and I am entitled to courtesy and instead of that I have been bothered with communications for the past few weeks. I heard all kinds of rumors in relation to the brick contract, but I did not attend to them, but when I found that another bid was to supplant mine, I thought it was time to move. I made no exceptions on my bid, and there is nothing in the specifications as to which I will furnish the metal frames. In my 25 years' experience as a builder this is the first time I see frames and such windows included in the brick contract."

In a brilliant attack this morning on the Verdun front the French carried off one of the most bitterly disputed positions of the war in the struggle for which thousands of men have lost their lives. The French advanced to an average depth of one and a quarter miles over the sector between Avocourt Wood and Dead Man Hill. Parts of the French line, especially in the vicinity of Hill 304, stormed the fortified works between Hancourt and Bethincourt. The official German report from the western front, while not deluged with admitting the loss of Hill 304, says it was evacuated on Tuesday night, only a weak garrison being left there.

The new French assault, made less than a week after the beginning of the new offensive, was delivered in the form of a somewhat shorter front than Monday's opening attack, which was on both sides of the river. At the first stage the French, although highly successful, did not obtain all their objectives, and today's attack doubtless intended to complete the attainment of the ends immediately in view. The French are now masters of all the important points on the Verdun front which they held before the beginning of the great German attack last year.

On the British front the bitter fight for possession of Lens was continued during the night. The official British statement announces that the British now hold German trenches in the northwestern of the Green Crassier, to the south of Lens and that especially heavy losses have been inflicted on the Germans. Portuguese troops which are holding a sector in northern France repulsed German raids in the vicinity of La Bassoe. Heavy artillery fighting continues around Ypres, where the British have improved their positions and successfully withstood counterattacks.

The Italian Front

Heavy fighting continues along the Italian front. Rome announces that more than 20,000 prisoners have been taken, as well as about 60 guns. The Italians have stormed further Austrian positions and broken up violent counterattacks.

Today's official Russian statement makes no mention of the situation on the northern end of the line, where an offensive, supposedly for the capture of Riga, was begun recently by the Germans. Only routine operations along the Russian front are reported.

tract, except when a general contract is given.

Mr. Warnock then read Mr. Drapenau's bid and that of Mr. O'Hearn and said Mr. O'Hearn's was the largest by $1400.

Mr. O'Hearn—"Why has my check been held more than 30 days?"

Mr. Warnock—"Because I wanted to consult the architect and the solicitor and because I am in office I cannot do so. The check is the two lowest bidders. I was instructed to call for bids by the municipal council and was criticised in the newspapers for doing so before an appropriation was voted."

Mr. O'Hearn—"That has nothing to do with my case."

Mr. O'Hearn then read a newspaper clipping and asked Mr. Warnock if the figures in question were not manufactured, but were given out to the press by his chief clerk and in his presence.

Mr. Warnock—"Your action, Mr. Warnock, is very injurious to me, for I am very jealous of my reputation in Lowell and I never backed out on any job."

Mr. Warnock—"The city solicitor believes your bid void."

Mr. O'Hearn—"At that rate why didn't you return my check?"

Mr. O'Hearn—"I did not withdraw my check." Mr. O'Hearn then said he had received letters from concerned parties, questioning the figures on the impression that he was the lowest bidder and would get the contract. "I was informed that they received their information from the architect."

Mr. Warnock—"I had nothing to do with the engaging of Architect Davis, for he was chosen before I came into office, and furthermore, I am not responsible for his doings."

Mr. Brown—"If the city gave you the contract, would you accept it?"

Mr. O'Hearn—"Yes, but I would not furnish the frames."

Architect Davis then informed the council that on the day previous to the opening of the bids, he informed the four bidders on the masonry work in relation to a retaining wall and all agreed to include it in their bids.

Mr. O'Hearn—"Do you think you have used me right, Mr. Warnock?"

Mr. Warnock—"Yes, as well as I know how." I called a meeting and the council went on record as opposed to the erection of the addition. Then I received a bill from the architect and I sent it to the mayor, and he refused to have anything to do with it. I then called another meeting to take action on the bill and the council voted to construct the addition."

At this point Mr. O'Hearn filed a protest to the granting of the contract to Mr. Drapenau.

Mr. Warnock—"The protest does not amount to a particle for I was allowed to reject one and all bids."

The mayor left the chair and then Architect Davis gave a lengthy talk on conversations he had had with contractors. Finally when it was found that Architect Davis and Mr. O'Hearn were having a heart to heart conversation, tion, that Commissioner Morse was conferring with Dr. Tighe, and the three other members of the council were in deep thought, one member made a motion to adjourn and it was so voted.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 24.—A statement issued in Berlin in regard to the attack by airships on the northern coast of England says bombs were dropped with good effect on British naval forces.

The airships also dropped bombs with good effect on Lincoln and on the southern bank of the Humber, and caused a fire at Grimsby, above brightly illuminated factories. Extinction of lights showed that buildings had been hit. On their return, the airships dropped bombs with good effect on naval forces."

M'CALL WOULD DOUBLE NATION'S STRENGTH

BOSTON, Aug. 24.—No longer need minor physical defects or correctable ailments prevent the young men of Massachusetts from enrolling in the service of Uncle Sam, providing the war department at Washington acts favorably on a plan suggested to it by Gov. McCall. Under this plan, those who have been turned away from the recruiting offices or who have been refused admission to the draft army because of such physical shortcomings, and who still desire to serve in the great war, may have the services of any of more than 30 of the most skilled surgeons, physicians and specialists in the Commonwealth, entirely free of charge.

In addition, a hospital capable of caring for 40 patients at one time stands ready to receive the men and house them until they are sufficiently recovered to continue the process of physical betterment at their homes.

Every woman can have beautiful hair and plenty of it too, by simply giving it the care and attention it needs—frequent and regular shampooing—not with ordinary soap and shampoos that soon dry out all the natural oils of the hair, make it brittle, harsh and eventually ruin it, but with HAY'S COCONUT OIL SHAMPOO, always used by discriminating women.

This entirely greaseless, clean, pure emulsion cannot possibly injure nor will it dry out or make the hair brittle—no matter how often used. Makes an abundance of rich, creamy, lather, cleansing the hair and scalp thoroughly, rinses out easily leaving the hair fine, soft and silky looking. 50c bottles at your druggist's. Hay's Coconut Oil Shampoo

This plan, which if extended throughout the country will mean the fitting for active war service of thousands of men who have been declared out of it, was originated by Dr. William A. Brooks of 187 Beacon street, chief surgeon and lieutenant-colonel commanding the Medical corps of the Massachusetts State Guard, and the 39 and more physicians, surgeons and specialists who will assist him in the work, are the men who make up the efficient medical outfit of the new state militia.

Conferences upon the plan between Gov. McCall, Maj.-Gen. Butler Ames, commanding the State Guard, and Dr. Brooks were held yesterday, and the following communication was forwarded Gen. Ames' office by the governor: "Attention has been called to the large number of rejections on account of physical defects of men who volunteer for service in the regular army and navy."

"I am informed on high medical authority that a large number of those rejected could be made fit for service by slight corrective operations."

"I request that you ask the surgical staff of the state guard to offer its services to try and make these men qualified to pass the physical examination. Provision may be made to care for these men during that time."

"In behalf of the commonwealth I would make this offer to the federal government, in the interest of fuller man power; and to help those patriotic men who loyally offer their services to their country and are rejected on account of some temporary or curable physical trouble."

"If this plan meets with the approval of the war department, its medical officers can assist greatly by selecting and recommending from among those rejected on physical grounds suitable candidates for such assistance."

The medical staff of the state guard which is offering its services for such work is composed of many of the leading surgeons, physicians and specialists in the state. The roster includes, besides Dr. Brooks, such well known and able men as Surgeons Donald Y. Baker, Brookline; Harold G. Giddings, Allston; Edward A. Supple, Boston; George W. Morse, Boston; Benjamin E. Sibley, Brookline; Russell F. Sheldon, Boston; Lemuel F. Woodward, Wrentham; Charles E. Durant, Haverhill; Thomas B. Smith, Lowell; Ralph H. Seelye, Salem; P. A Model for Every Type of Full Formed Figure Overlander, Brookline, and Francis H. Slick, Brookline.

Dr. Brooks in outlining the plan stated that hundreds of men in Massachusetts who are willing and anxious to serve the nation in the present war have been unable to enlist because of defects or ailments that he corrected in a comparatively short time. The list of such defects includes all cases of rupture or hernia, varicocle, various veins, deformities of the feet and poor condition of the teeth. Such defects and ailments, he said, can be corrected, and the State Guard surgical and medical force is prepared to undertake such work.

The procedure for the volunteers who desire the free services of this staff of medical men, providing, of course, the war department approves, will be for them to apply to the recruiting office, where they were rejected, for a card stating the grounds of the rejection. This card should then be presented to the state guard medical officer, who will be quartered at the state house, and who will direct the men applying for such treatment to the surgeon best fitted to handle each case.

Dr. Brooks looks for the adoption of this plan in every state in the Union and stated with authority that the man power of the nation will be nearly doubled when the scheme is put into operation. The war department will be commended with the matter today and speedy and favorable action is expected.

COSSACKS VOTE FULL CONFIDENCE IN LIEUT. GEN. KORNILOFF AND PREMIER KERENSKY

PETROGRAD, Aug. 24.—The council of Cossacks in assembly has voted full confidence in Lieut. Gen. Korniloff, commander-in-chief of the Russian armies, and Premier Kerensky. The question arose following a demand published in Izvestia, organ of the council of soldiers and workmen's delegates, that Lieut. Gen. Korniloff be dismissed because of the strict regime he instituted in the army. The council adopted a resolution approving the generals and corps as the only rational one, and endorsing the right of workmen and soldiers to interfere. He was eulogized as the "only general able to restore order and lead the country out of a critical situation."

RED BLOODED PEOPLE LIVE THE LONGEST

Red blooded people retain their youth and vigor until late in life because red blood ages slowly.

A child with impure blood seems old, while an old man with pure red ironized blood seems young.

Impure blood clogs the system with waste matters, rapidly aging body, mind and spirit.

Pure blood is red blood, rich in iron and phosphates with power to rid itself of waste matter and able to carry life giving oxygen to every cell and nerve. It makes both young and old, bright, happy, keen, and interested in life. This is the blood you need, every day of your life, the rich red blood made by pure food, fresh air, restful sleep and "Phosphated Iron the red blood and nerve builder."

Phosphated Iron enriches your blood and nerves putting them in shape for work. Improves your color, increases your appetite and gives you strength, vigor and power to enjoy both work and pleasure, makes you feel like doing things once more.

Phosphated Iron is prescribed by leading doctors for all who are worn out, run down, nervous, weak and thin blooded people in all walks of life. They have learned to depend on it for honest results.

Special Notice.—To insure physicians and their patients receiving the genuine Phosphated Iron, we have put in capsules only, so do not allow dealers to substitute pill or tablets. Insist on the genuine in capsules only. Fred Howard, the Druggist, Lowell Pharmacy and leading druggists everywhere.

Take Your Basket and Go to Market

It is not so many years since the thrifty housewife went to market with her basket on her arm. Indeed, there are many places where she still does. The pity is that the custom has been permitted to die out anywhere.

For, whether she realized it or not, her basket was a factor in helping maintain the low prices which formerly prevailed. She chose what she wanted—paid for her purchases—carried them home with her. That all helped keep down the merchants' cost of doing business and they could afford to sell for less.

Today, with so many values uncertain and prices up, every woman should get out her market basket and use it. She should go to market regularly.

By doing so, she will accomplish two things—she will help her dealer and she will help herself. Every time she saves the dealer a delivery expense she is making it cost him less to run his business—aiding him to sell at lower prices. And if she pays cash, she is helping herself still more. But, quite as important, she is exercising her right to pick and choose. She can select exactly what she wants. And she is broadening her buying horizon.

Not only will she have a better idea of her dealer's facilities but she will also appreciate more fully his skill in selecting foods for her choice and his care in keeping them in the best condition for her table.

For instance, there are housewives—many of them—who would not think of using any but Star Ham, Vestibled "Simon Pure" Leaf Lard, Vestibled Sliced Bacon and other Oval Label staples. They know the Armour Oval—know it means top quality of its kind no matter on what it may be.

But they may not know the wide variety of foods on which it is to be found.

Our Package Food line includes meats, fish, vegetables, soups, condiments, butter, eggs, etc., ALL UNDER THE OVAL LABEL. What buying difficulties many women find solved for them when they go into their dealer's store and look over his Oval Label Department!

Remember, this year market baskets are distinctly in style. Take your basket and go to market.

THE PRESIDENT GREETSHI

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—President Wilson yesterday formally welcomed the Japanese mission to the United States when he received Viscount Ishihara, head of the mission, with Ambassador Sato. Both were accompanied to the White House by Sec. Lansing, and the president received them in state surrounded by military and naval aids.

PRINCE'S

106-108 Merrimack St.

In warm and cordial terms the president welcomed Japan's mission bearing a message of closer friendship and co-operation between the two nations, and in appropriate language Viscount Ishihara replied.

The army and navy members called on Secretary Baker and Daniels. Presenting his credentials to the president, Viscount Ishihara said in part: "President—On this occasion I have the good fortune to be the bearer of a special message of welcome and deep appreciation from his Imperial Majesty the Emperor of Japan to the president and sovereign people of the United States of America, on their momentous decision to co-operate in the great war now raging."

"His Majesty, interpreting the unanimous sentiment of Japan, congratulates our great country on this determination. It has been arrived at, not lightly and in a moment of passion, but after the exercise of a noble patience and in a spirit of unselfish chivalry which have excited the admiration of the whole world. That America is now fighting on the side of Japan is a source of pride to his Majesty and to every Japanese."

"The auspicious co-operation of the United States of America and Japan in the tremendous task of restoring the reign of mutual confidence and good-will among the nations of the earth can not but draw us closer together."

"This is no ordinary war. It is an issue between common morality and an inhuman system of calculated aggression which would render all friendly intercourse impossible. The welcome fact that the United States stands side by side with the allied powers is a guarantee of early victory, and so his Imperial Majesty hails it with deep gratification."

The president said in reply: "Mr. Ambassador, it is with a sense of deep satisfaction that I receive from your hand the letters whereby you are accredited as the ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary of Japan on special mission to the United States. It is a pleasure to accept through you from your imperial sovereign congratulations on the entrance of the United States into the great conflict which is now raging. "The present struggle is especially characterized by the development of the spirit of co-operation throughout the greater part of the world for the maintenance of the rights of nations and the liberties of individuals. I assure your excellency that standing as our countries now do, associated in this great struggle for the vindication of justice, there will be developed those closer ties of fellowship which must come from the mutual sacrifice of life and property. May the efforts now being exerted by an indignant humanity, joined at the proper time, to the complete establishment of justice and to a peace which will be both permanent and serene."

"Your excellency will find your sojourn among us most agreeable and I should be gratified if you would be so good as to make known to his Imperial Majesty my best wishes for his welfare, for that of your wonderful country and for the happiness of its people."

Last night Viscount Ishihara and members of his mission were the guests of the president at a dinner in the White House, closing a day of the formal calls of courtesy, preceding the important conferences at which the importance of the visitors will be discussed.

The guests at the White House dinner included justices of the supreme court, cabinet officers, prominent members of both houses of congress and ranking officers of the army and navy. Today Viscount Ishihara went to the capitol to call on Senator Saunders, president pro tem of the senate, and Speaker Clark. In the evening there will be dinners by the secretaries of state, war and navy for Viscount Ishihara, Gen. Sugano and Vice Admiral Takeshita, respectively.

FIVE ARRESTS DUE TO PASTOR'S EXPOSE

PROVIDENCE, Aug. 24.—Following an expose from the pulpit of St. Mary's church by Rev. Henry Norman, of lawless conditions around Cumberland Hill, Sheriff Herman Foster of Providence last night raided three places in that town over the heads of the Cumberland police commission.

Five arrests were made. The prisoners were held in $1000 each in the district court at Central Falls on charges of keeping a nuisance. The accused included Henry Cooke of the Diamond Hill Inn; Edward H. Tyndal of the Cumberland Hill Inn; Frank L. Staples of Diamond Hill; Connelie P. Desjardin of the "The Tap"; and Joseph McKee of the Cumberland Hill Inn. They will have a hearing Sept. 5.

The raid was the result of discontented music at the Cumberland Inn on Sunday while masses were being held at St. Mary's, the church being only 40 feet away.

The Sunday Supplement of The Sun published in connection with its Saturday editions, contains an up-to-the-minute women's page. Have you read it?

Little is known of him here except that he formerly lived in Boxboro. The railroad temporarily took charge of the body.

BOY ASLEEP IN STOLEN AUTO ROBES

PROVIDENCE, Aug. 24.—Patrolman Muller early yesterday found Philip Lavigne, aged 10, of Fall River, Mass., wrapped in automobile robes, with a revolver in hand, asleep in an alley off Pine street.

The boy said a 15-year-old boy had stolen the robes and had left him to guard them, with instructions to shoot any one who tried to take them away. The boy was put on probation in court yesterday and his relatives were notified. The robes were restored to their owners, George E. Leighton of Bristol and Henry C. Dexter of Central Falls.

The 15-year-old boy, still at liberty, was said by his younger friend to live in Dighton, Mass. The smaller boy told the police that the older lad shot at an automobile in Dighton, Mass., Tuesday.

SIX MORE BANNER-CARRYING SUFFRAGISTS ARRESTED IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Six women carrying suffrage colors and banners bearing quotations from President Wilson's writings were arrested late yesterday in front of one of the White House gates and taken to police headquarters.

It was the first time the women's party had sent banner bearers to the White House since last week, when six of its members were arrested and sent to the district workhouse in default of payment of $25 fines.

Those arrested are Mrs. Pauline Adams, Norfolk, Va.; Mrs. Ida Fuller, Little Falls, N. Y.; Mrs. Kate Rockwell and Mrs. W. L. Lockwood, Washington; Mrs. Gertrude Hunter, Minneapolis; and Miss Margaret Frothingham, Buffalo.

They gave bonds to appear in the police court today on the charge of obstructing traffic. It is understood that the women propose to make their light through the courts on these cases.

No appeals were entered for the prisoners now in the workhouse.

WHERE DANIELS DARED

Here are some facts that ought to be known in connection with the attacks of Col. Robert M. Thompson, president of the navy league, on Secretary of the Navy Daniels.

Colonel Thompson is chairman of the board of directors of the International Nickel Co. The cost of nickel is more than half the cost of armor plate and enters largely into many kinds of munitions used by the navy. Some of the directors of the International Nickel Co. are directors and large stockholders in munitions plants, steel companies, and other concerns interested in war contracts. There are, for example, Ambrose Monell and W. E. Corey of the Midvale Steel Co., makers of projectiles and other munitions; E. C. Converse of United States Steel and Inspiration Copper; William Nelson Cromwell, one of the organizers of United States Steel, and Charles Hayden of the Utah Copper Co. Thompson himself is a director of the Oxford Copper Co.

All these directors of International Nickel have been hard hit on their pocketbook by Secretary Daniels' low-price policy.

Daniels has hammered down the price of armor-plate and projectiles to a point where there are no more exorbitant profits, only a fair margin. He has cut the price of copper to the navy half in two as compared with the open market price. He has insisted on getting steel at cost plus a fair profit, less than half what the steel companies have been soaking the allies and the public.

In other words, Secretary Daniels has forced Colonel Thompson and his fellow directors of the International Nickel Co. and his associates in the navy league to give up millions of dollars of war profits. Naturally they would like to discredit Daniels; naturally they would like to see him resign.

That is all there is to the attacks of the navy league on Secretary Daniels and his administration of the navy department, and the public ought to keep this in mind whenever Colonel Thompson starts one of his periodic campaigns.

DROP WEARING MOURNING

Recently the Garment Makers' association suggested American women would greatly serve the success of the war if they would decide not to wear mourning for any relative or friend who dies during its duration. Travelers from France all speak of the depression caused by the universal mourning worn by the women. The psychological influence of sadness is heightened by the yards and yards of somber black and swathing veils of crepe, in which the sorrowing sweethearts and wives and mothers have draped themselves.

The wearing of mourning is more or less an edict of fashion anyway. It is one of the barbarous customs that has lingered from the unhappy lot of the child widows of India.

One's grief may be poignant and sincere but that is no reason why one should inflict it on others who might be happy even when we are sad.

This year brilliant colors have been worn more than usual by women, young and old, and if this war still persists why may not our women do their bit by flaunting the red badge of courage instead of wearing the rusty unsanitary crepe that has long been considered the insignia of woe?

TO DEFINE SEDITION

In view of the many seditious utterances by soap box orators and other speakers throughout the country, Cleveland Moffett, of the American Defense society, the well known author, has appealed to President Wilson for an explicit definition of what words and acts constitute sedition and treason. Mr. Moffett holds that the manner in which some of the countries fighting side by side with the United States are assailed by aliens and some citizens of this country should be regarded as treason to the United States or as sedition that gives aid and comfort to our enemies. Already the department of justice is investigating many such cases and a decision relative to the matter will probably be forthcoming in the near future.

SECTARIAN AMENDMENT

Ex-Alderman John W. Daly who is a member of the constitutional convention made a strong plea for the exemption of the Lowell Textile school from the operation of the constitutional amendment which would cut off all state support. The amendment was adopted. At first originally at religious schools, it adopted, it will cut off Harvard, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and all the textile schools of the state and all such institutions as are not absolutely under state control.

The exemption boards have a good opportunity to note the difference in the patriotic spirit of the men who appear before them. Some have no sense of obligation to their country for the freedom they enjoy, while others—the true patriots of our city—are ready to give their service and their lives if need be for the defense of the flag.

Dracut has kept ahead of us in the matter of tax rate for some years past but now that her rate is $23 per $1000 the prospect is that with our present system of financing, we shall soon catch up to the Dracut figure.

Some men who have never been known to have such a thing as a conscience are now putting up the claim that they are conscientious objectors to the war. How conscience doth make cowards of some people!

Statistics show that there has been a marked reduction in the importation of luxuries since 1914. That was to be expected and it has prepared the nation for the Hooverization that is soon to take place.

The U-boat toll for last week was much smaller than usual. The American destroyers are getting in their work and Edison's inventions have not yet been put in operation.

Mr. Carl D. Burtt will take with him the good wishes of a host of Lowell friends who wish him unlimited success. He is an energetic teacher, and a good disciplinarian.

From this time on we may expect to hear occasionally that American fliers, American gunners and American sailors have fallen in the fray in France.

The Polish mission to this country will be well received. It can render service to the Allies by causing more of the Poles in this country to enlist.

Our public market would be all right if it were covered by a roof instead of a canopy that offers no protection against the weather.

Lowell has certainly had a fair share of the government orders and now Dracut scores. Why should the Navy Yard be slighted?

The frugal housewife's motto used to be, "Eat all you can, can the rest." Now it is "Can all you can, and eat the rest."

For both army and navy Lowell is doing as much as any city of its size in the country. So say the officials who know.

Plant Juice Was the Only Remedy

Well Known Lady Suffered For 15 Years Instantly Relieved By New Medicine

Life insurance companies have figures to prove that there is a steadily decreasing death rate in all ages up to about 45 in men, and about 65 in women, but for all men over these the death rate is steadily increasing. The decrease is due to the universal campaign against the diseases of infancy and the modern precautions taken to prevent such diseases, while the alarming increase in the death rate is due almost entirely to the diseases that attack adults.

Many have found quick deliverance from their suffering by the use of Plant Juice, the new herbal stomach remedy, which is composed of a combination of roots, herbs, barks and berries of numerous medicinal plants. Daily signed testimonials are received from local people, telling of the wonderful benefit derived from the use of this preparation.

One of the latest is that of Mrs. Marie Hamilton, who resides at No. 14 Carlton street, Lowell, Mass., and is popular among a large circle of friends. She stated:

"For the past 15 years I have suffered with stomach trouble. I had indigestion so bad that I could not retain the lightest kind of food in my stomach, and it would ferment and cause gas to form; I could not sleep, had headaches, dizzy spells, and the gas pressed so on my heart that I thought I had heart trouble; my kidneys and liver bothered me a great deal; I was constipated and felt weak and miserable all the time. I heard of Plant Juice and started to take it; now I am glad to say that I am feeling better and stronger in every way. I sleep well, and have a fine appetite; it has entirely relieved my constipation, and I have no further trouble with my kidneys or liver. I most heartily recommend Plant Juice as it is a God-send to people who have suffered as I did."

The Plant Juice Man is at Down, the Druggists, in Merrimack Square, Lowell, where he has been meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

The sea ride to the northland was exciting, but still out of the zone frequented by the submarines. Meekin takes interestingly of Archangel, which has over 225,000 people and nothing but long cables for buildings. The streets are unkempt and dirty. The people everywhere are waiting for supplies of all kinds. They will buy anything up there. Mr. Meekin sold a pair of his old discarded shoes, with soles and uppers broken, for just five dollars.

Cape Cod's Wart Character

This from the East Brainerd correspondent of the Yarmouth Register: "We have to express our gratitude to our worthy neighbor, Mr. Oscar I. Rogers, for the disappearance of a stubborn wart. Mr. Rogers has no rival as a wart doctor on Cape Cod. At one time during his treatment of the wart he thought he would have to resort to the drastic measure of burying a piece of pork in order to expedite the cure, but the excruciating pain, and the mysterious movements of Mr. Rogers' thumb. Mr. James McConnel, one of our summer visitors, was also successfully treated by Mr. Rogers. We believe that not even a concrete wart could resist Oscar's magical power. ## Alkali In Soap Bad For the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully. If you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary unsifted coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulitified coconut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

A Free Man

Way down in Oklahoma where the wells are spouting oil And the humid heat of summer causes mercury to boil, They had a great reception celebrating Belgian day. And the Welcoming Committee wanted So they decided themselves in garments of a highly formal style. And each member wore a frock coat and a stiff and shiny tie. They wrapped themselves in waistcoats and in starched shirts to boot But the governor attended in a Palm Beach Suit!

The Welcoming Committee were stewed in the heat. They sweated from their Kellys to their patent-leather feet. But partially in envy and in disapproval too. They frowned upon the governor, so cool and calm to view. He met their frowns untroubled, as his eyes in pity dwelt On various committeemen who seemed He about to melt. He watched them sweat and suffer, each conventional galeot. While he was blithely comfy in his Palm Beach Suit.

O brave and sapient ruler who refuses to be bound By ancient ties of custom which are neither wise nor sound. You give us greater courage to defy the foolish rule Which makes it most improper to be sensible and cool; We chant a song of gratitude to one who has the sense To dress the way the weather, not the tailor, may demand; To let the bellie to ringing out, and let the whistles too. To the governor of Tulsa in his Palm Beach Suit!

—Berton Bralley.

Plymouth Parkson and Pythons

The Plymouth town crier, that tells this tale, starts off by recording that the circus had been in town and it was so hot that the grass root afore near the tent. Late that night a local clergyman and his wife, taking advantage of the lesser temperature of the late hours, took a walk up to the monument and back home to cool their perspiring brows before retiring.

Nearly home the pastor's attention was attracted by something long and slim lying in the roadway. The puzzled person rubbed, but the thing didn't move. Then he poked it with his foot and it wiggled. Being a minister he couldn't swear but probably exclaimed "great snakes," for by that time he had discovered another one, just like the first, stretched out on the lawn of the Episcopal church. Mrs. Minister made for home by the shortest route, which in this case was the longest way round the snakes. And they were long snakes. Six or seven feet long, each one of them. Think of meeting 14 feet of snakes in front of your own church, and strange snakes that you had never met before!

They didn't wiggle much. They seemed either overcome by the heat of the late hours, or they were victims of the drug war but probably the circus had gone and the parson wasn't taking any chances of having those "serpents" getting into his church, nor he wasn't taking them home with him either; that is, not yet. If he left them in the road "ill morning" he could see where the women of the neighborhood would have conceptions fits and some of the men would take the pledge. So he got an axe and a board and he poked the board under the snakes' neck and whacked the board with the axe. Then he did the same to the other snake. For he wasn't playing any favorites and the snakes were in the way of the liquor trade. So they got their tails cut right off just back of where their ears would be if snakes had ears. Now the parson has two big snake stumps, and the snake charmer with the tent show must be shy two of her pets.

Resinol will heal those mosquito bites

A touch of Resinol takes the itch and smart right out of mosquito-bites, and soothes and cools sun-burned, wind-burned skin. This gentle healing ointment seems to get right at the root of skin-troubles like eczema, ivy-poisoning, heat-rash, and hives, clearing them away in a surprisingly short time. Resinol is sold by all druggists.

WORCESTER EXCISE BOARD REVOKES LICENSE OF THE NEW CITY HOTEL

WORCESTER, Aug. 24.—The liquor license of the New City hotel at Myrtle and Southbridge streets was revoked yesterday by the license commission, after a hearing on charges made by chief of Police George H. There has been much complaint recently about the liquor way in which the liquor trade is handled in some of the hotels, especially on Sunday, and Chairman Elmer C. Potter of the license commission said, after the New City license had been revoked, that he hoped the action would serve as a warning to the other hotel men of the city.

RUSSIA WILL BE RULED BY RUSSIAN PEOPLE

This is another of the series of articles by Charles Edward Russell, staff writer of The Sun, who has just returned from Russia, where he spent three months as a member of the official United States commission to the new Russian government.

BY CHARLES EDWARD RUSSELL
(Copyright, 1917, by the Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

Many other things about Russia may be doubtful, but there is one Russian certainty all may bank upon with confidence.

Barring only German success, democracy has come there to stay.

Not half way democracy nor a fake mis-called by democracy's name.

The goods—the real thing.

Russia will be ruled by the Russian people. They will rule it absolutely.

Autocracy, whether frankly labelled with the name of a czar or neatly disguised as a constitutional monarchy, is a dead one in Russia. Keep the Germans out and it will never again have a look in there.

Wise things may be done; also foolish. But whether wise or foolish, whatever is done will be by the grace of the people of Russia, free and independent.

Reactionary influences in this and other countries are striving hard to create the impression that Russia has or is about to have a dictator.

You can put all that aside as the idle dreams of troglodytes. If you know any climate on earth that is more unhealthy for dictators now than the climate of Russia, gentlemen planning to go into that line of business are earnestly advised to look elsewhere. The prospects are not salubrious.

Russia will not have a dictator and, contrary to cave dwelling opinion, does not need a dictator. It is no one man country and never will be again.

I don't know any country where the national democratic spirit is stronger, more resolute or better awake to its job.

Wise democratic heads in Russia are now studying outlines for the Russian constitution. No one need be astonished if, when their work is done and the constitution adopted, it proves to be the most advanced document of the kind ever put together.

No one need be astonished if it provides for a government more directly and truly democratic than any other nation on earth has ever had.

Even now, without any formulated constitution, the people are supreme.

The most powerful institution in all Russia is the National Council of Workmen, Soldiers' and Peasants' Delegates, and that is a purely democratic power.

Local councils, similarly formed, furnish for the time being the governing steam in the municipalities. The national council furnishes it in national affairs.

The national council is the only source of authority. What it says goes.

Its 330 delegates were elected from all parts of Russia by men and women voters equally endowed with citizenship.

It is the most remarkable legislative body in the world, and, as it looks to me, the most significant, the most satisfactory and admirable.

It is composed chiefly of farmers and workmen; the actual producers and toilers.

Now in every country these are the vast majority of the population.

Therefore, in every country, if we are to have real democracy, these should compose the legislative power.

In this country, and in England there is a strange superstition that nobody can make laws or manage government except lawyers, bankers, exploiters and professional politicians.

Well, then, give fervent thanks to Russia. She has knocked the spots out of all that fol-de-rol.

Her national council does business with rapidity, good sense and good judgment. She doesn't miss the lawyers, except to bless the Lord they are not there.

Lawyers constitute less than one per cent of the population and hold in our country 70 per cent of the legislative offices. They can't see that in Russia.

Also, to arrive at the next point for thanksgiving, five of the delegates in the national council are women.

Women suffrage was achieved in Russia the moment the revolution was a success. It achieved itself automatically, without effort. Nobody argued or campaigned for it. Nobody had to point out that it was a good thing and a simple act of justice and ought to be adopted. Democracy had won and nobody in Russia had any other idea of democracy except a democracy that includes men and women.

If you will stop and study that little fact for a time, and let it seep into your mind and heart, and look at it from every angle, you will, I am sure, discover how comical a position we assume when we undertake our favorite superior and condescending attitude toward the new democracy.

In a short time elections will be held throughout Russia to choose delegates to the first constituent assembly, which will adopt a constitution and help to launch the Russian republic.

Men and women will vote for these delegates. Women will be among those chosen and will sit in the assembly and help to make the constitution.

July 7, but it left in charge of the government its executive committee of 250, apportioned among the workmen, soldiers and farmers, and this executive committee is now running things in Russia.

It operates the machine. You do not hear anything about it, for reasons I shall tell you hereafter. But you can discount any stories you may read from day to day about anybody else "ruling" Russia. This is the only ruling power, being the representatives of the people.

The rest of the world seems to have a fear that there may be a counter revolution and a return of the old conditions.

Unless German victory and German influence can bring it back to life, there isn't anything else anywhere in the world quite so dead as the old order in Russia.

It's deader than a mackerel that for sanitary reasons the board of health has ordered to be cremated.

If the Germans, assisted by the American copperheads, American doughfaces and American pro-Germans, do not break through that front not even the ghost of the old order will ever come again.

If they do, you will see the czar back in the winter palace and you ought to have a clear understanding as to who put him there.

Truth is eloquent—forceful without being boisterous in connection with the great infallible remedy, Dows' Diarrhoea and Cholera Syrup. All druggists.

MAN BURNED IN EXPLOSION

Accident at the Newton Mfg. Co. Plant This Forenoon

Roy Richter Badly Burned and Now in the Hospital

Roy Richter of 27 Lawrence street was badly burned about the face, arms and shoulders this morning shortly before 10 o'clock by an explosion in the foundry of the Newton Mfg. Co., in Warrenville. Richter was employed in the priming department of the plant and his work was considered particularly dangerous. Every precaution had been taken by the company to place the danger at a minimum and the company feels that somebody has been careless.

Richter was working on a primer in the loading department and there was a box of powder nearby. In some manner or other the powder was ignited, causing an explosion which burned Richter badly. According to witnesses a number of girls employed in the same department fainted and a fire alarm which was supposed to be the signal for the employees to leave the plant was rung in, adding to the general excitement.

Richter was removed to St. John's hospital and this afternoon the authorities reported his injuries serious. There was no other injury done as far as could be ascertained.

Forty years ago, when Samuel Fawcett's paper mill at Cornwall-on-Hudson closed down, Fawcett assured his employees that they would get their back pay sometime. Recently his son appeared with a list of the former employees and paid to them or their heirs the entire sum, with interest, for the 40 years.

NEWS OF CASES IN POLICE COURT

There was a number of long drawn out cases in police court today and the session continued for nearly three hours.

Albert B. Cameron was charged with a violation of the automobile law on August 17, and after the defendant and witnesses had explained the circumstances Judge Fisher ordered the case placed on file. In the course of the testimony it developed that Cameron had been found running his machine in Gorham street well into the evening without having the front lights on. Defendant explained that he had turned the lights on when he left his garage by means of an electric switch. There was a loose connection in the electric system and the lights went out unknown to the defendant, because he had been driving on well lighted thoroughfares. The court accepted his explanation.

Joseph Gauthier was charged with using profane language and because of the fact that the uncomplimentary terms which he did use were not considered profane. Judge Fisher found him not guilty. Officers Lemay and Connelly testified to finding him at Merrimack and Suffolk streets at 2 o'clock this morning and said that he had addressed Officer Lemay with abusive language. When it was brought out that what he had said was not profane, the court found that the law did not classify them as profane and despite the fact that they were highly uncomplimentary there is no punishment provided for their utterance.

Chauffeur Fined $20

James R. Ellis was summoned on two complaints—one of drunkenness and the other of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. The prosecution testified that he had damaged the auto of Fred Horne while the machine was parked in Middle street a week ago yesterday, the day of the soldiers' and sailors' celebration. After a long elucidation of the technical parts of an automobile, the defendant was found guilty on the charge of operating his machine while under the influence of liquor and fined $20.

CRAP GAME HOLD-UP

MEN SENTENCED

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Albert Johnson, twenty-eight, and Eugene F. Price, thirty-four, who took part in the hold-up of men in a "crap game" in the Hotel St. Francis, West Thirty-seventh street, May 16, were convicted in general sessions yesterday of robbery to the city prison for a week by Judge McIntyre.

The complaining witness was Arnold Bothstein, who testified that he was robbed of a stickpin valued at $2500 and $1000. He claimed to have saved $20,000 by shoving it under a rug.

After the verdict Judge McIntyre said Price is wanted in Cleveland on a charge of murdering a paymaster and would be held until the Ohio officials had communicated further.

Johnson admitted five convictions for larceny and three prison terms. Price confessed one previous conviction as a nickpocket. The penalty for robbery in the first degree is from one to twenty years, and from forty years to life for second offenders.

Four men were implicated in the hold-up, the other being Henry Unkriz, who testified against Price and Johnson and Daniel O'Donnell, who demanded a separate trial and is in the toms.

Miss Helen Beck, of Indianapolis, Ind., sent up a seven-foot paper balloon on July 4 with a small slip of paper attached bearing her name and address and requesting the finder to notify her where the balloon descended. She has received a letter from W. D. Stoddard of Hot Springs, Ark., saying he had found the balloon. The distance from Indianapolis to Hot Springs is 600 miles, which is 200 miles farther than the previous record flight of a paper balloon.

LIEUT. JOSEPH MOLLOY HONORED BY FRIENDS

Lieut. Joseph A. Molloy, one of the Lowell boys who received a commission at Plattsburg, N. Y., and who is soon to sail for France with the first unit of Plattsburgers to be assigned to make observations on the firing line, was tendered a complimentary banquet by the members of the Washington club last night.

Lieut. Molloy is one of the most popular members of the club, and his fellow members were so elated over the fact that he received a commission and also that he was given a very important assignment, that they made him the guest of honor last night, and during the course of the evening presented him with various articles which will be useful to him, among them being a pair of field glasses, a pair of trench shoes, a money belt, Colt .45-caliber revolver with belt and holster and a pair of puttees.

The presentation was made by the master of ceremonies, William A. Hogan, who rapped to order after an excellent meal had been discussed. The guest of honor responded, thanking his friends for the manner in which they had honored him and after giving an interesting talk on military affairs he was congratulated on all sides by those present whose admiration for him has been multiplied by his splendid manifestation of patriotism in so gallantly offering his services at the front.

Lieut. Molloy will leave Lowell Monday for Hoboken, N. J., and at "sometime" will go to "somewhere in France."

An operation was performed in St. Luke's hospital yesterday. When the boy came out of the ether, his mother was standing over him. "Gee, ma," said Thomas, "you look white. # SAMMIES WOULD RATHER FIGHT THAN DIG

AMERICAN TRAINING CAMP IN FRANCE, Aug. 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—One of the greatest problems American officers have before them is impressing upon their men the absolute importance of learning the best ways of keeping under cover.

The American soldier is not a natural "digger-in." He is much like his Canadian brother in arms in that respect.

It is the American spirit as it was that of the Canadians to upstate and fight, but the world war has long since passed that stage and now the long wear and worry of a struggle of attrition the best commander is the one who best conserves his men by keeping them under cover. One of the greatest reasons why the Germans still are in France and Belgium is their wonderful facility for digging themselves in. They have a perfect passion for it, and an incentive as well for the allied artillery never ceases to pound them day and night.

The German belief that they can dig faster than a modern army can advance is one of the principles of their defensive tactics, notwithstanding all that has been told along this line notwithstanding the heroic efforts to rouse his enthusiasm over the pick and shovel, the American soldier has remained decidedly lukewarm. He came across to France to fight the Germans, he says, and not to dig a hole and look at them through a spy glass.

It is purely a matter of temperament, and there seems to be little doubt now that only actual battle experience will convince American soldiers that the ability to take advantage of any bit of cover is one of the greatest assets the modern man at arms can have.

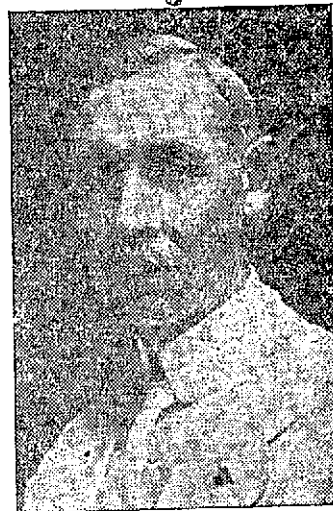

"It seems a shame to have to curb the first fighting spirit of our troops," said an American training officer yesterday. "But the men must be made to understand as far as possible that impetuosity must be subordinated to steadiness. This has become a time clock war. The men must advance in given time and go no further. Every step of infantry advance must first be worked out with the artillery, and when the plan is arranged it must be strictly adhered to."

The Natural Fighter

The natural fighting man, it seems, has a natural antipathy to digging in. Even in these late months of war British Tommies would much rather remain above ground and stand chances of getting killed by shells than to dig the deep dugouts so named by the Germans.

Fighting from shell holes also is an art and one that Americans must learn before taking their place in the allied line. German prisoners declare they would rather fight from shell holes on an active part of the front than from a regularly organized trench system. The latter affords the artillery too good a target, while isolated shell holes are difficult for the enemy's guns to deal with.

and stripes predominant. The long festive board ran the length of the room and at the head of this was the table for the guests. Shortly after 8 o'clock the guests and hosts fled to their places while the Honey Boy quartet welcomed them with an appropriate air. Three cheers and a tiger were given.

en for the guests of the evening and then the business sessions which all ways come up first at a session of the banquet board were attended to. In other words the inner man was completely satisfied.

After the banquet proper had run its course, Joseph J. Burns rapped to order and appointed Freeman M. Bill as toastmaster of the evening. Mr.

Bill told of the hospitality which the guests of the evening had shown to Lowell men when the latter were in the southland and said that the purpose of the evening's assembly was to repay, in a degree, that hospitality. He then called upon Col. Grayson himself to tell those present just what he thought of Lowell as he had seen it during his recent visits. The genial colonel spoke in part as follows:

"My dear friends: I use these words with their true meaning because next to my home city of Savannah I respect the men of Lowell most. Your toastmaster introduced me as coming from the little city of Savannah. Savannah is little as cities go, yet it is one of the largest of the middle states. However, I have been asked to speak about Lowell and I cannot mention the name without mentioning the impression of democracy which the men of this city have made upon me. I consider the state of Massachusetts the foundation of democracy as well as the cradle of liberty. It makes me really happy tonight to be among real men—real human, lovable men."

"Five years ago I came to your city as a stranger merely to visit the family of my friend, Dr. Morris. Because of the reception which I received from you gentlemen at that time I have continued coming. I only hope that it may be my privilege to continue my visits for many years. There is only one way in which a man may gain happiness and that is by doing something for others. So I find this spirit of self-sacrifice especially dominant at this evening's gathering."

"But enough of that. We are here to enjoy ourselves and I should celebrate my 51st birthday anniversary in Lowell. As a modest man—one who reveres the flag and that for which it stands—I greet you men of the old city. If we men had known each other this evening, there would have been no civil war. Why are the men of Georgia and Massachusetts and Alabama and New Hampshire all united in spirit today? Why—to make the world safe for democracy."

Mayor O'Donnell was the next speaker and in a few remarks he extended the hospitality of Lowell to the guests and expressed his pleasure and good fortune at having been present at all of their receptions in Lowell.

Commissioner James F. Donnelly was then called upon for a wee bit o' Scotch and he responded with "She's the Lass for Jee" and a Lassie song.

Among the other speakers were Joseph J. Burns, John Dawson, Michael Markham, Edward Burns of Somerville and a number of others. Dr. Morris was called upon also and he spoke much in the same vein as Col. Grayson and interspersed his remarks with a few reminiscences of his friend, Francis Connor sang "The Sunshine of Your Smile" and the Honey Boy quartet offered a number of patriotic and popular selections, including a song written by Leonard Brown and dedicated to Lowell, "Lowell, I'm Returning to You." When Col. Grayson was asked to tell what he thought of Lowell he said: "A city is nothing more nor less than a geographical position. That in a degree is what has made Lowell. But overshadowing all else in the makeup of a city are the men who compose its citizenship. In Lowell I find the spirit of hospitality among your men higher than in any other city in which I have visited and I have been from coast to coast and gulf to sound."

Those present last evening included Col. Grayson, Dr. Morris, Mayor O'Donnell, Commissioner James F. Donnelly, Hon. John T. Sparks, Charles D. Paige, Dr. Thomas C. Calk, Edward F. Saunders, Emmons Harris, Martin Conway, Timothy Donohue, Terence Leonard, John J. Lee, James McCausland, Michael Clancy, John H. Farrell, Michael McCune, Arthur J. Connors, Dan O'Dea, John D. Brennan, William Burns, John J. Kinlosa, Frank Scannell, John F. Cotter, John J. Mulaney, Eli LaPorte, Robert Manning, Francis Connor, Edward Burns, Gottlieb Tuomo, Julius McQuade, Edward R. Morris, Hugh Ferguson, John J. Dawson, E. A. Wilson and others.

MAYOR WANTS BETTER TRAIN SERVICE

The following letter, addressed to Mayor O'Donnell and having to do with better train service to Ayer, is self explanatory:

Boston & Maine Railroad, J. H. Eastis, Temporary Receiver, Lowell, Mass., Aug. 22, 1917. File No. 74.

Hon. J. J. O'Donnell, Mayor, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:—I acknowledge the receipt of your favor of the 22nd, in relation to better passenger service on the Stony Brook branch, between Lowell and Ayer, on Sunday. I have referred your letter to the superintendent of this division, Mr. H. C. Robinson, Concord, N. H. I have stated to him that there are many complaints from the public in general on account of no train being run on the Stony Brook branch on Sunday, and if we did put on a train it doubtless would be well patronized, and requested him to give the matter consideration and to advise you the result.

I have no doubt but what you will hear from him in relation to this matter within a few days.

Yours truly,

W. G. Parkin, General Agent.

FEDERAL CONTROL OF COAL INDUSTRY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Completion of the administration's program for federal control of the coal industry was in sight today when officials turned their attention to the fixing of retail prices and the regulation of distribution. Dr. Harry A. Garfield, appointed to head the coal administration, will take active charge of the work as soon as he finishes his duties with the committee fixing prices on wheat.

The president's action in establishing prices on coal and ordering the industry into government supervision, in case the mines fail to observe the regulations prescribed, the president has the power given him the food bill to take over and operate the properties.

Mrs. R. G. O'Dowd, who maintains a farm in Idaho, sent a pound of butter to her mother in New France, by parcel post, the 8000-mile journey taking 60 days. The butter was in excellent condition when it reached its destination.

testimony took the matter under advisement.

Patrolman Michael J. Lennon testified to visiting Donohoe's saloon Liberty square Aug. 13, at 10:30 p. m. He found several men at the bar, many of them drunk and disorderly. He saw two young men at the end of the bar very drunk and one of them with his hand on a glass of beer. Mr. Donohoe was at the other end of the bar came from behind when I called his attention to the condition of the man. I asked what was in the glass and he said, "It is beer, it is beer." I took the glass and we brought the man to the box and I rested him. Other officers at the station house saw the condition of the man's arrest.

At this point a certificate from the state board of health showing the analysis of the liquid was produced by Supl. Welch after which a release signed by the man arrested was offered.

Officer Lennon continuing with his testimony said he believed the man was under the influence of liquor. He believed he was drunk by his appearance. On cross-examination Officer Lennon said he was appointed a member of the liquor squad about three weeks ago. He visited Mr. Donohoe's saloon about once a day since then.

This is the first complaint made against Mr. Donohoe so far as he remembered. Patrolman Noye accompanied Officer Lennon. He testified there were 15 to 20 men in the saloon. He would swear there were not 30 men in the saloon, but would swear that there were two bartenders besides Mr. Donohoe behind the bar. He did not have any conversation with Mr. Donohoe. He glanced over the crowd and saw this man standing at the bar. He beckoned to Mr. Donohoe, "Come over to us." He took about two steps for the bar and took the glass the man was drinking from. He brought the glass to the station in the patrol with the prisoner. "I tasted the liquor in the saloon."

Officer Joseph V. M. Noye corroborated the testimony offered by Officer Lennon. He said that the man he saw in Donohoe's saloon was drunk, the appearance of his face indicated that he was drunk.

Other officers testified as to the man's condition when brought to the police station. At this point a recess was taken in order that officers for the government would have a chance to appear and offer testimony relative to the man's condition, but later counsel and Supl. Welch agreed upon the testimony that would be offered and the hearing was resumed.

At the evidence presented the licensee complained of testified that he had been at his present location for 10 years and this was the first time he had ever been called before the commission. He said he had two bartenders working for him on the night in question. Mr. Donohoe said he was on the floor at the time the man who was arrested was put out of the place about 5 o'clock that afternoon. There were three others with him. They insisted on being served and Mr. Donohoe said he had to put two of them out of the place.

Continuing with his testimony Mr. Donohoe said: "About 10:30 that night I was out on the floor when a man called my attention to a man who was very drunk and disorderly. I went down to talk with him and while reading it, with my back toward the door, Mr. Lennon came in and called my attention to the man who was very drunk and disorderly. I was and found the four men that I had put out in the afternoon. The man was placed under arrest and subsequently I found out that he lived in Peabody and went to his house with the intention of bringing him home as a witness, but when I reached there I was told that he was working in Ayer. My reason for trying to locate him was that he might give me some information that might be material. I did not see the man enter my saloon."

Henry Monahan said he had been working for Mr. Donohoe for the past two years, apart from, as a bartender. He was working on the afternoon in question with another bartender and Mr. Donohoe, and had refused to serve the man who had been arrested. "I told them they had enough and would not serve them," said Mr. Monahan. "They came back about 10:30 that night and while Mr. Donohoe was on the door reading a card they came to me and ordered drinks. I refused to serve them."

Lawrence Cavanaugh said he was in the saloon with a friend and ordered two drinks. He and his friend drank them and two more were ordered. Mr. Monahan served the drinks. After drinking the first glass and ordering the second one out of the place, they were facing each other. Mr. Cavanaugh's back being toward the door, his glass being on the bar just behind him.

Mr. Cavanaugh continuing with his testimony said: "When I turned around to get my drink I found that a man next to me had taken it. I then spoke to Mr. Monahan and asked him where my beer was. I then saw Officer Lennon with it."

Another witness, a man who was present with Mr. Cavanaugh, corroborated the testimony offered by the other witnesses. He said that the man placed under arrest took Mr. Cavanaugh's glass of beer and was drinking it when another man took it away from him and tasted it. He said that the man was Officer Lennon, who he never knew him before. Witness said that he heard Mr. Monahan refuse to serve the man a drink and had ordered him out of the place.

John A. Shea testified that he had seen Mr. Donohoe push two men out of the saloon in the afternoon. He went into the saloon about 10:20 o'clock that night to get a glass of beer before going to bed and saw a man take a glass of beer off the counter. This beer was near Mr. Cavanaugh. Later Officer Lennon picked up the beer. Witness said that the man who picked up the beer was the same man who had been arrested during the afternoon by Mr. Donohoe. Mr. Shea said that he knew the beer belonged to Mr. Cavanaugh because he knew the man and saw the intoxicated man reach over and take it while Mr. Cavanaugh's back was turned.

Counsel for defense argued for a dismissal of the complaint contending that the evidence presented did not prove that a delivery had been made by Mr. Donohoe or any of his agents or servants on the night in question. The evidence presented that the man had once been rejected and also that on his second appearance the man had been refused service.

Supl. Welch argued that it was admitted the man was drunk, and the only question was relative to service. The commission took the matter under advisement.

A pleasing feature of the session was the entrance of nearly 100 national aids, who marched down the aisles, led by Mrs. Nellie F. Libbey of Lynn, senior aid, who presented Mrs. Martin, national president, a gift of gold pieces enclosed in a bean pot, typical of Boston.

Mrs. Starkweather, department president of Massachusetts, one of the aids, presented on their behalf a gift to Mrs. Libbey. Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Libbey, when responding, referred to the work of the aids, especially in gaining new members.

Mrs. Atwood, past department president of Massachusetts, reported as chairman of the national senior aids, and other reports of committees were read. A delegation from the Sons of Veterans was received.

TROOPS LINED UP WITH LEWIS GUNS TO RECEIVE BELGIANS—BARON MONCHEUR and MAYOR MITCHEL

GRIM WAR AND WARM SYMPATHY

GREET BELGIAN MISSION TO AMERICA

The members of the special Belgian mission to the United States were officially received and welcomed in New York by Mayor Mitchell and the city. The cheerful enthusiasm with which Joffre and Viviani were followed wherever they went was not so much in evidence. It had been officially announced that since the Belgian envoys came from a land in mourning they wanted no formal dinner, no elaborate social events to welcome them. And in the temper of the crowds that greeted them there was less of ebullient shouting than of sympathetic deference to the representatives of a nation which had sacrificed itself to preserve the pledged faith on which the world had depended.

There was another difference between the reception of the Belgians and the reception of the French. Three months ago Joffre and Viviani came to a city in holiday dress, a city which received them as if they were coming back at the end of a victorious war; a city where the war as yet was something remote, something to be hurried over. Now there is a grimness about the town. Where semi-social organizations were called out in gorgeous uniform to receive the French, the Belgians saw real soldiers on every band.

In the photographs are seen Baron Moncheur, head of the Belgian mission, and Mayor Mitchell. Other pictures show soldiers lined up at city hall, with Lewis hand machine guns supported on little stands.

Reports from Holland maintain reserve concerning the pope's peace note. It is asserted in some quarters that hopes are held in Holland that both groups of belligerents will eventually ask the queen of the Netherlands to

FITCHBURG HONORS MEN OF THE SIXTH

FITCHBURG, Aug. 24.—Twenty-five thousand citizens of this city and surrounding towns paid tribute to the men of the 6th Infantry in Cos. B and D, the supply company and the medical department as they marched through Main street yesterday afternoon. The soldiers arrived shortly after noon in special cars in command of Maj. William H. Dolan and proceeded to the state armory, where they were given a dinner by the city council. The men were cheered as they left the cars by thousands of people who gathered to extend a welcome and many mothers rushed out to their boys to hug and kiss them.

At the armory, the Fitchburg Military band, formerly the 6th Regiment band, under the leadership of Fred Calder, played patriotic selections. There were 350 covers laid. Seated at the head table were Mayor Frank H. Foss, Judge Michael J. Murray of Boston, Maj. Wm. E. Dolan, Capt. Jeremiah J. MacDowell, Capt. Walter Beaman, Lieut. Gen. Geo. H. Priest, Alvin Crocker, Capt. Norman Harrower, Capt. Douglas Crocker, Capt. H. H. Wheelock, Capt. Page Bunker, Lieut. Warren E. Fogarty, Lieut. Geo. Ware, Lieut. Clifton S. Hadley, Lieut. J. Middleton, Lieut. Thornton K. Ware, Lieut. Ralph Freilick, Lieut. Walter F. Stiles, Lieut. Donald Allen and Lieut. Foreber.

After dinner Judge M. J. Murray of Boston delivered a patriotic address. Mayor Foss extended the welcome of the city.

The men, headed by the Fitchburg Military band, and the officers who received their commissions at Fitchburg, and a platoon of police, in command of Lieut. James F. Roy, marched from the armory to the upper common and thence to Moran square. The return

TENNIS STARS WHO HAVE JOINED ARMY SNAPPED IN UNIFORM AT TOURNAMENT

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—There was a wild burst of enthusiasm at the national tennis tournament at Forest Hills when three of the crack tennis experts of the country came on the

ARMIES WILL NEED MILLIONS OF RIFLES; THEY ARE NOW BEING TURNED OUT

Rifle factories may not be the busiest places in the United States in these war days, but it is a safe guess that few other places are busier. Uncle Sam will need hundreds of thousands and perhaps millions of guns for his new armies. The pictures show three scenes in one of the largest rifle factories in America, No. 1, finishing bayonets; No. 2, rifles near completion passing under stars and stripes and portraits of Washington, Lincoln and Wilson; No. 3, inspecting cartridges.

PRESIDENT WILSON FIXES HARD COAL PRICE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Government control of the coal industry was made almost complete last night when President Wilson named Dr. H. A. Garfield, president of Williams college, as fuel administrator; fixed anthracite prices for producers and jobbers, and set a limit on profits to be made by bituminous wholesalers.

The final step will be to make regulations for coal distribution and to fix anthracite and bituminous retail prices. This will be done when a distribution program is perfected and when the federal trade commission has completed a plan under which retail profits may be fixed.

The anthracite prices fixed, effective Sept. 1, are virtually the same as those now charged at the mines under a voluntary arrangement made by producers with the trade commission. The prices that may be charged by jobbers, however, will reduce present costs sharply. Bituminous jobbers' profits, too, will be cut by the new price scale set for wholesale transactions.

Scale at the Mines

The anthracite scale for railroad-owned mines, which include virtually all the big producers, follow:

White Ash—Broken, $4.55; egg, $4.45; stove, $4.70; chestnut, $4.80; pea, $4.10. Red Ash—Broken, $4.75; egg, $4.65; stove, $4.90; chestnut, $5.00; pea, $4.30. Lyons Valley—Broken, $5; egg, $4.90; stove, $5.30; chestnut, $5.50; pea, $4.35.

Producers who incur the expense of rescreening anthracite at Atlantic or lake ports for reshipment by water are permitted to add not more than five cents per ton to the price.

Other producers may charge an advance of 75 cents a ton of 2240 pounds over the figures set for the railroad-owned mines. Those who incur the expense of rescreening it at Atlantic or lake ports may add an additional five cents a ton.

Profits for Jobbers Fixed

Anthracite jobbers delivering coal at Buffalo and points east of that city will be allowed a maximum profit of 20 cents a ton of 2240 pounds and those delivering it west of Buffalo may charge an excess of 30 cents. The combined gross profits of any number of jobbers handling a shipment must not exceed the limit of profit set for a single jobber, except that a screening charge of five cents may be made on water shipments at Atlantic or lake ports.

Bituminous profits for jobbers are fixed at 15 cents a ton of 2000 pounds and the same restrictions that govern dealings by a number of anthracite jobbers apply to bituminous transactions.

The president's order forbids railroad-owned mines from selling to other mines and prohibits dealers from selling

Garfield to Take Up Work Soon

The coal administration will be organized as soon as Dr. Garfield has completed his work of recommending to the food administration a government price for the 1917 wheat crop. Dr. Garfield's price-fixing committee, it was said yesterday, would be ready to announce a price within a few days.

Dr. Garfield announced last night he would institute a licensing system for all coal dealings from the mine to the retailer and that, if prices were fixed for retailers, the licensing would be extended to cover retail dealings.

Under the law giving the president control of fuels the government can take over and operate any mines failing to observe regulations prescribed. A corporation similar to the wheat corporation of the food administration was suggested last night as a possibility to prepare the government to handle the situation if the price-fixing plan does not work out satisfactorily.

The last resort under the law is government requisitioning of the output of all mines and the sale of it to the public. The organization of an operating and purchasing corporation would provide all the machinery necessary to put the commandeering provision of the law into operation.

Fixing of retail prices presents a tangled problem. Handling costs are not the same in any two cities, and a flat gross margin that will assure equitable profits will be hard to fix.

On the other hand, a percentage of profit plan would present even more difficulties because of trouble in keeping track of bookkeeping methods.

Some officials believe retail prices may be reduced by exposure of dealers who have been reaping exorbitant profits. Already the trade commission is publishing reports of its investigations in various cities, designed to show that in anthracite particularly the retailer largely is to blame for high prices.

There has been virtually no complaint of anthracite prices charged at the mines since the producers and the trade commission agreed some months ago on a scale of prices, but there has been no law under which jobbers and retailers could be curbed. In fixing anthracite prices, however, it was deemed essential that prices be fixed at the mines, as well as elsewhere.

RAILWAY EQUIPMENT DEPLORABLE

PETROGRAD, Aug. 21.—"Deplorable," is the word used to describe the condition of railway equipment in Russia by Chief Traffic Manager Shubersky. In charge of railway transportation along the front. He has just made a report to the committee of engineers of the department of communications. He declared the work accomplished during the five months since the revolution "fragile." He cited figures to show that at the end of the present half year there were 700,000 freight cars less than in the same period a year ago.

At the beginning of 1917, said M. Shubersky, there were 34,000 broken locomotives, or 16 1/2 per cent of the total. Today there are 52,000 or 25 per cent. Similarly the cars out of commission were 25,000 or 4 1/2 per cent, against a present number of 46,000 or 8 per cent. The speed of trains has been reduced from 72 versus daily to 52. General political and economical disorganization is the reason given.

KAISER SAYS ENGLAND MUST BE BEATEN

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 24.—England, the arch enemy of Germany, must be beaten down at whatever cost, Emperor William told his troops while on a visit to the Flanders front on Wednesday.

An official statement issued in Berlin says that the emperor addressed deputations from all detachments which have had a share in meeting the British attacks. He said he felt impelled to express his thanks and full recognition of the heroic gallantry shown by troops from all parts of Germany in the hard fighting of the last week. The emperor referred to the marked contrast between the German and Anglo-French points of view and continued:

"It is in God's hands when in His wisdom He will give us victory. He has taught our army a hard lesson and now we are going to pass the examination. With the old German confidence in God we shall show that we can do. The greater and mightier the problem, the more gladly we shall grapple with it and solve it. We shall have enough of these struggles."

MICHAELIS IS CHARGED WITH FALSEHOOD

LONDON, Aug. 24.—Special despatches from Amsterdam represent the scene in the reichstag main committee Wednesday over Chancellor Michaelis' attitude on the peace resolution as a storm which would have resulted in ousting him from office in a democratic country. According to these accounts Dr. Michaelis was challenged to explain his real attitude toward the peace resolution because when he said July 19 he supported it, he added:

"As I understand it."

This apparent qualification said Herr Michaelis' challengers, had been seized by the annexationists, who claimed that the chancellor was really on their side.

Dr. Michaelis, in replying, made a laborious explanation, but the vagueness of opinion were possible regarding ing details, and he had noted such differences among the majority parties. This provoked an outburst on the part of the representatives of the majority parties, in the name of which Herr Friedrich Ebert, socialist leader, virtually charged the chancellor with falsehood.

Herr Ebert said the majorities completely agreed about the significance of the resolution which was unmistakable and they insisted that the government prosecute a definite peace policy.

The Tageblatt says the affair is not merely of passing importance, nor can it be glossed over by a few smooth phrases. The paper contends it is clear that Chancellor Michaelis has not sufficient authority to control the situation, chiefly because he was chosen without the popular representatives having been consulted.

AUSTRIAN PICTURES HIS OWN COUNTRY

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 24.—An Austria which is literally crying for peace, which has discarded any thought of territorial expansion and is even willing to buy its way out of the war by territorial sacrifices on the Italian front and in Galicia; an Austria of frequent food riots, unable to last through another winter of war; an Austria whose population would rise in revolution if any reasonable offer were rejected by the government, is pictured by an intelligent Austrian who has arrived here from Vienna. In a long talk with the correspondent today he told a story which, though possibly unduly pessimistic, explains the perplexed attitude of the German foreign minister, and of Emperor Charles in returning again and again to the subject of peace negotiations.

The Austrian, who spent several days in Berlin on his way to Copenhagen, had an opportunity to talk with representatives of the German foreign office, including Baron von dem Bussche-Haddenhausen, the under-secretary, and other prominent Germans of the stamp of Prof. Hans Delbrueck of the University of Berlin. He said that all of these men with the exception of Herr Harden, were convinced peace was coming before winter.

Food conditions in Vienna, were described as worse than is usually imagined for the poorer classes of the population, though a fairly comfortable existence may be maintained with money.

Nevertheless, he said, there have been food riots in many places during the summer. These usually were of a minor character and as a rule without loss of life. It was his opinion that they would assume a more serious character if the war should run into the winter.

According to this informant, the Hungarian ruling classes, are less wary of the war than are the Austrians, although anxious for peace. He described the young emperor as a man of really great popularity, and, in fact, the one person of influence in the country.

Negroes of the 24th U. S. Infantry Terrorize Residents of Houston, Texas

Governor Proclaims Martial Law—Rioters Claim Houston Police Officer Slapped Colored Woman's Face—Congressman Eagle of Texas Calls it a Tragic Blunder to Send Negro Soldiers to Southern Camps

HOUSTON, Texas, Aug. 24.—As a result of a riot of negro soldiers of the 24th United States Infantry last night the entire city of Houston and its environs are under martial law today. Gen. John A. Hulen is in command as provost marshal. A revised list shows 16 men dead.

Orders have been given to soldiers to watch all incoming trains and not to permit armed men to enter the city. A report shortly after midnight said that armed men were likely to flock into Houston from some of the adjoining counties.

A detachment of more than 300 regulars arrived from Galveston and a part of them were detailed to go to Camp Logan, while others were assigned to duty in the city, with orders to prevent the assembling of citizens on the streets.

City and county officers are co-operating with the military, and it is officially stated that the situation is well under control.

Among the dead is a negro sergeant, Vida Henry, believed to have been the ringleader in the uprising. Henry's body, riddled with buckshot, was found a quarter of a mile from the camp limits. Horace Moody, one of the wounded police officers, who suffered an amputation of the leg, died this morning at the hospital. E. J. Melneke, another police officer, is the 17th victim reported found.

Acting Mayor Moody of Houston, has called upon every citizen of Houston to preserve peace, to go quietly to his business and to rest assured that there is going to be full inquiry and proper punishment for the crimes which have been committed.

Martial Law Declared

Martial law was proclaimed by Governor Ferguson, effective in Houston and vicinity, and early today the military authorities had the situation under control, although 70 of the negro soldiers were still missing.

The trouble is said to have started after some of the negro soldiers had complained of treatment accorded them by members of the Houston police force. About 9 o'clock some 50 negroes, later being joined by others, formed at their camp and began a march toward downtown Houston. Lights in residences along the way were shot out and a number of persons wounded as they sat inside their homes.

Major K. S. Snow, commanding the negro troops guarding Camp Logan, declared that he attempted to control the men when he saw what was about to happen, but they were beyond control and some 150 of them started to shoot promiscuously in the camp and soon scattered in every direction.

An attempt was made to kill him, Major Snow declared.

According to police reports the origin of the trouble was the arrest of a negro woman in a downtown section. A negro soldier asked that the prisoner be turned over to him and a refusal led to an argument, the soldier finally being taken to police headquarters.

A little later another negro soldier approached the policeman and asked concerning the first man. When told that the negro was at headquarters, more women followed and this negro also was sent to headquarters.

Previously the negroes had reported the happening to their officers. A conference followed between Police Super-

PROTEST THE BARTLETT SCHOOL CONTRACTS

A special meeting of the members of the municipal council was held this morning at the request of Commissioner Warnock for the purpose of approving contracts for the construction of the proposed addition to the Bartlett school. The plumbing and gas piping, painting and heating and ventilating contracts were awarded and approved by the council the mayor voting in the negative, while those for the brick and masonry work and carpentry were held up, pending the time the contractors furnish bonds.

Patrick O'Hearn, who claimed he was the lowest bidder for the mason and brick contract, filed an objection to the granting of the contract to William Drapau, and was given a hearing during which he clashed several times with Commissioner Warnock, who alleged that the figures of bids published in local newspapers were not given out by him (Mr. Warnock), but were manufactured by the newspapermen, a charge

LAFOLLETTE AMENDMENT IS REJECTED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—After another day's debate, embittered by charges that those desiring to make the war unpopular and embarrass the administration were behind the movement to greatly increase the tax rates in the war tax bill, the senate late yesterday rejected, 53 to 21, Senator La Follette's amendment to raise $558,781,000 from individuals' incomes instead of $490,164,000 as proposed in the bill.

COSSACKS VOTE FULL CONFIDENCE IN LIEUT. GEN. KORNILOFF AND PREMIER KERENSKY

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 24.—The council of Cossacks in assembly has voted full confidence in Lieut. Gen. Korniloff, commander-in-chief of the Russian army, and Premier Kerensky. The question arose following a demand published in Izvestia, organ of the council of soldiers and workmen's delegates, that Lieut. Gen. Korniloff be dismissed because of the strict regime he instituted in the army. The council adopted a resolution approving the general's course as the only rational one, and denying the right of workmen and soldiers to interfere. He was eulogized as the "only general able to restore order and lead the country out of a critical situation."

Lemon Juice For Freckles

Girls! Make beauty lotion at home for a few cents. Try it!

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quart of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless.

RED BLOODED PEOPLE LIVE THE LONGEST

Red blooded people retain their youth and vigor until late in life because red blood ages slowly. A child with impure blood seems old, while an old man with pure red ironized blood seems young.

Impure blood clogs the system with waste matters, rapidly aging body, mind and spirit.

Pure blood is red blood, rich in iron and phosphates with power to rid itself of waste matter and able to carry life giving oxygen to every cell and nerve. It makes both young and old, bright, happy, keen, and interested in life. This is the blood you need, every day of your life, the rich red blood made by pure food, fresh air, restful sleep and "Phosphated Iron from the red blood and nerve builder."

Phosphated Iron enriches your blood and nerves putting them in shape for work. Improves your color, increases your appetite and gives you strength, vigor and power to enjoy both work and pleasure, makes you feel like doing things once more.

Phosphated Iron is prescribed by leading doctors for all who are worn out, run down, nervous, weak and thin blooded people in all walks of life, they have learned to depend on it for honest results.

Special Notice—To insure physicians and their patients receiving the genuine Phosphated Iron, we have put in capsules only, so do not allow dealers to substitute pill or tablets, insist on the genuine, in capsules only. Fred Howard, the Druggist, Lowell Pharmacy and leading druggists everywhere.

Take Your Basket and Go to Market

It is not so many years since the thrifty housewife went to market with her basket on her arm. Indeed, there are many places where she still does. The pity is that the custom has been permitted to die out anywhere.

For, whether she realized it or not, her basket was a factor in helping maintain the low prices which formerly prevailed. She chose what she wanted, paid for her purchases—carried them home with her. That all helped keep down the merchants' cost of doing business and they could afford to sell for less.

Today, with so many values uncertain and prices up, every woman should get out her market basket and use it. She should go to market regularly.

By doing so, she will accomplish two things—she will help her dealer and she will help herself. Every time she saves the dealer a delivery expense she is making it cost him less to run his business—aiding him to sell at lower prices. And if she pays cash, she is helping herself still more. But, quite as important, she is exercising her right to pick and choose. She can select exactly what she wants. And she is broadening her buying horizon.

Not only will she have a better idea of her dealer's facilities but she will also appreciate more fully his skill in selecting foods for her choice and his care in keeping them in the best condition for her table.

For instance, there are housewives—many of them—who would not think of using any but Star Ham, ~~best~~ "Simon Pure" Leaf Lard, ~~best~~ Sliced Bacon and other Oval Label staples. They know the Armour Oval—know it means top quality of its kind no matter on what it may be.

But they may not know the wide variety of foods on which it is to be found.

Our Package Food Line includes meats, fish, vegetables, soups, condiments, butter, eggs, etc., ALL UNDER THE OVAL LABEL. What buying difficulties many women find solved for them when they go into their dealer's store and look over his Oval Label Department!

Remember, this year market baskets are distinctly in style. Take your basket and go to market.

In warm and cordial terms the president welcomed Japan's mission bearing a message of closer friendship and co-operation between the two nations, and in appropriate language Viscount Ishii replied.

The army and navy members called on Secretaries Baker and Daniels.

Presenting his credentials to the president, Viscount Ishii said in part: "Mr. President—On this occasion I have the great fortune to be the bearer of a message of welcome and deep appreciation from his Imperial Majesty the Emperor of Japan to the president and sovereign people of the United States of America, on their momentous decision to co-operate in the great war now raging.

"His Majesty, interpreting the unanimous sentiment of Japan, congratulates your great country on this determining decision to restore the world to a state of peace, and in a moment of passion, but after the exercise of a noble patience and in a spirit of unselfish chivalry which have excited the admiration of the whole world, that America is now fighting on the side of Japan is a source of pride to his Majesty and to every Japanese.

"The auspicious co-operation of the United States of America and Japan in the tremendous task of restoring the reign of mutual confidence and good-will among the nations of the earth can not but draw us closer together.

"This is no ordinary war. It is an issue between common morality and an inhuman system of calculated aggression which would render all friendly intercourse impossible. The welcome fact that the United States stands side by side with the allied powers is a guarantee of early victory, and so his Imperial Majesty hails it with deep gratification.

The president said in reply: "Mr. Ambassador: It is with a sense of deep satisfaction that I receive from your hand the letters whereby you are accredited as the ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary of Japan on special mission to the United States. It is a pleasure to acknowledge through you from your Imperial sovereign congratulations on the entrance of the United States into the great conflict which is now raging.

"The present struggle is especially characterized by the development of the greater part of the world for the maintenance of the rights of nations and the liberties of individuals. I assure your excellency that standing as our countries now do, associated in this great struggle for the vindication of justice, there will be developed those closer ties of fellowship which must come from the mutual sacrifice of life and property. May the efforts now being exerted by an indignant humanity lead, in the near future, to the complete establishment of justice and to a peace which will be both permanent and serene.

"I trust your excellency will find your sojourn among us most agreeable, and I should be gratified if you would be so good as to make known to his Imperial Majesty my best wishes for his welfare and for the happiness of his people."

Last night Viscount Ishii and members of his mission were the guests at the president's state dinner in the White House, closing a day of the formal calls of courtesy, preceding the important conferences at which the business of the visitors will be discussed.

The guests at the White House dinner included justices of the supreme court, cabinet officers, prominent members of both houses of congress and ranking officers of the army and navy.

Today Viscount Ishii went to the capital to call on Senator Taft, president pro tem of the senate, and Speaker Clegg, in the evening there will be dinners by the secretaries of state, war and navy for Viscount Ishii, Gen. Sugano and Vice Admiral Takeshita, respectively.

SIX MORE BANNER-CARRYING SUP-FRAGISTS ARRESTED IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Six women carrying suffrage colors and banners bearing quotations from President Wilson's speeches and writings, were arrested late yesterday in front of one of the White House gates and taken to police headquarters.

It was the first time the women's party had sent banner-bearers to the White House since last week, when six of its members were arrested and sent to the district of Columbia in default of payment of $25 fines.

These arrested are Mrs. Pauline Adams, Norfolk, Va.; Mrs. Clara Miller, Little Falls, Minn.; Mrs. Kate Brough and Mrs. W. L. Lockwood, Washington; Mrs. Gertrude Hunter, Minneapolis; and Miss Margaret Frothingham, Buffalo.

They are expected to appear in the police court today on the charge of obstructing traffic. It is understood that the women propose to make their fight through the courts on these cases.

No appeals were entered for the prisoners now in the workhouse.

ST. PATRICK'S JR. N. SOCIETY

The members of St. Patrick's Junior Holy Name society will receive holy communion in a body at the 8:30 mass on Sunday. A large attendance is expected as all are requested to offer their communion for the repose of the soul of Master William F. Keefe, who was a faithful member of the society. The members of the sanctuary choir will also receive holy communion at the same mass. Master Keefe was also a member of the choir. Before his illness he was one of the most reliable and punctual members. The annual outing of the choir will take place on Thursday, Aug. 30, at Canobie Lake. A special meeting of the members will be held on Sunday morning, Aug. 26, after the 8:30 mass to make arrangements for the outing. Every member is requested to be present at this meeting.

FIVE ARRESTS DUE TO
PASTOR'S EXPOSE

PROVIDENCE, Aug. 24.—Following an expose from the pulpit of St. Mary's church by Rev. Henry Norman, of lawless conditions around Cumberland Hill, Sheriff Herman Paster of Providence last night raided three places in that town over the heads of the Cumberland police commission.

Five arrests were made. The prisoners were held in $1000 each in the district court at Central Falls on charges of keeping a nuisance. The accused included Henry Cooke of the Diamond Hill Inn; Edward H. Tyrell of the Cumberland Hill Inn; Frank L. Staples of Diamond Hill; Connelie P. Desjardin of the "The Tap" and Joseph McKeon of the Cumberland Hill Inn. They will have a hearing Sept. 5.

The raid was the result of dissonant music at the Cumberland Inn on Sunday while masses were being held at St. Mary's, the church being only 40 feet away.

The Sunday Supplement of The Sun published in connection with its Saturday editions, contains an up-to-the-minute women's page. Have you read it?

ANOTHER BIG FIRE IS RAGING IN SALONIKI

ATHENS, Thursday, Aug. 23.—A second fire is burning in Saloniki, where great damage was done last Saturday by a conflagration which destroyed a considerable part of the city making 60,000 persons homeless. Thus far a thousand houses have been destroyed.

KILLED BY TRAIN IN SOUTH ACTON

SOUTH ACTON, Aug. 24.—William Lee, 40, unmarried and employed as a farm laborer, was instantly killed by an east bound freight train about 6 o'clock last night while he was walking the tracks on the Fitchburg division of the Boston & Maine railroad between South and West Acton. Little is known of him here except that he formerly lived in Roxbury. The railroad temporarily took charge of the body.

BOY ASLEEP IN STOLEN ARCTIC EXPLORERS
AUTO ROBES

PROVIDENCE, Aug. 24.—Patrolman Muller early yesterday found Philip Lavigne, aged 10, of Fall River, Mass., wrapped in automobile robes, with a revolver in hand, asleep in an alley off Pine street.

The boy said a 15-year-old boy had stolen the robes and had left him to guard them, with instructions to shoot any one who tried to take them away. The boy was put on probation in court yesterday and his relatives were notified. The robes were restored to their owners, George E. Leighton of Bristol and Henry C. Dexter of Central Falls.

The 15-year-old boy, still at liberty, was said by his younger friend to live in Dighton, Mass. The smaller boy told the police that the older lad shot at an automobile in Dighton, Mass., Tuesday.

S. OF V. AND AUXILIARIES CLOSE CONVENTION

BOSTON, Aug. 24.—Both the encampment of the Sons of Veterans and that of the Sons of Veterans Auxiliary were concluded last evening, the officers being elected and installed. Both societies united on a trolley trip to Revere beach in the evening. The Sons of Veterans meeting at Ford hall elected W. T. Johnson of Washington commander-in-chief; Charles H. Young of Providence, S.V.C.; Henry Bender of New Jersey, J.V.C.; and William M. Anderson, counsel-in-chief.

William T. Church of Chicago was presented by Fred E. Bolton, S. of V., with a badge of past commander-in-chief. Mrs. Margaret Hamilton, a veteran nurse, made an address, telling about the sufferings of her fathers on the battlefields of the Civil war. The next encampment will be at the same time and place as that of the G.A.R.

The Sons of Veterans Auxiliary met in Chipman hall yesterday afternoon and after a short business meeting elected officers as follows: Miss Mayme E. Dwyer, New York city, National president; Mrs. Mabelle M. Ham, Boston, National vice president; Mrs. Elizabeth Hansen, Union Hall, N. J., National treasurer; Mrs. Minnie Groth, Baraboo, Wis., patriotic instructor; Mrs. Blanche Beversstock, Concord, N. H., National chaplain; Mrs. Frances Stevens, Burlington, Vt., National inspector; Mrs. Lydia Wood of Los Angeles, inspecting and installing officer; Mrs. Jennie Phale, Dwight, Ill., press correspondent; Miss Adelaide M. Wallace, Indianapolis, National secretary. The delegates were guests of the Massachusetts department in the evening.

ning on an outing to Revere beach. Mrs. Margaret L. Waters of Woburn, president of the Massachusetts division and chairman of the National council of administration, was in charge of the outing of the auxiliary. Mrs. Waters has planned outings for the visitors for today and tomorrow.

Mrs. Mae E. Clothier of Illinois, retiring president, was presented numerous gifts by the various divisions, including a gold piece from New York, cut-glass pieces from Massachusetts, Maine and Wisconsin, a silver spoon from Colorado and an American flag rose pillow from Mrs. Margaret Carey Wright of California.

NEGRO RIOT IN HOUSTON

Continued

Intendant Brock and army officers, which led to an order being issued to the effect that the negro troops are to be called "colored" troops by members of the police department.

Were Beyond Control
Evidence of the brewing riot became apparent in the evening, and Major Snow received word that the negroes

CANADIANS EXAMINE SHOT-RIDDLED GERMAN HELMET

BULLET TORN GERMAN HELMET FOUND IN CANADIAN DRIVE

What has become of the original owner of the helmet shown in the bullet torn picture is not known, but if he was wearing the headpiece when had entered the ammunition tents and armed themselves. He attempted to quell the negroes but they already were beyond control, and had begun to shoot at random while marching toward the city.

It was not until the negroes reached the Reichert store at Washington avenue and Sandman road, which the taking of life began. Alma Reichert, 35 years old, the first victim, was shot by a stray bullet, it is believed, as she had sought safety in her father's store.

A block farther south, as the negroes turned in that direction on the sandman road, Fred Winkler was killed and W. J. Drucks, seriously wounded. Sixteen truckloads of federalized National Guardsmen were rushed to the scene and all the streets were put under heavy patrol.

More than 100 armed negro soldiers were said to have hidden under buildings in the vicinity of West End baseball park and with their rifles high, the taking of life began. The negroes, pursued sniping tactics for a time.

Among those killed was Capt. J. W. Matties, Battery A, Second Illinois Field Artillery, who died here a few days ago to prepare the camp for the regiment, which is still in Chicago. He was shot while trying to quell the negro soldiers who were firing on soldiers and civilians. He was badly mutilated, his right arm being cut off and his scalp almost torn away.

List of the Dead
After the troops rounded up the negroes it was found that about 70 of the rioters were missing.

The dead:
Ira D. Rainey, mounted police officer.
Rufe Daniels, mounted police officer.
Middle-aged man named Smith.
S. Saiton, barber.
Capt. J. W. Matties, Battery A, Second Illinois Field Artillery.
R. J. Alonzo, police officer.

A. R. Carstons, painter.
Manuel Garde.
Fred E. Winkler.
Bryant Watson, negro soldiers' Company K, 24th Infantry.
M. D. Everton, member of a local artillery unit.
C. W. Wright.
That the list of dead and wounded will grow as the daylight search progresses seemed certain.

The dead police officers were among the first to reach the rioting negroes. Rufe Daniels helped to make the rioters yesterday that led directly to the riot.

Meeting the Rioters
Officers Daniels and Rainey were killed and Moody, Wilson and Patton were wounded a considerable time after the outbreak started.

"Patton and Long, and the driver and I were in an automobile slightly behind them," said Desk Sergt. Wilson.

At the corner of San Felipe and Third streets, we suddenly met the rioters—there must have been at least 50 of them. They opened fire without Galveston, who have five machine guns. General Hulen believes he has the situation well in hand and that there is small prospect of trouble.

Reports at Washington

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Official reports on the troop rioting at Houston began arriving at the war department early today and were hurried to Secretary Baker as fast as they came in. The affair is regarded as most serious. Particularly in view of the fact that the negro troops concerned were regulars and not new to army discipline.

The similarity of the occurrence to the celebrated Brownsville rioting, as the result of which President Roosevelt summarily dismissed two battalions of negro troops, is marked.

Officials indicate that the affair will be investigated thoroughly and dealt with as vigorously as its nature demands. They realize that it accentuates the delicate question of mobilizing negro troops in the south, against which protests have been coming from the states and which has confronted the war department with a very embarrassing situation.

Withdraw Negro Troops

The secretary did not say whether the withdrawal of the 24th Infantry detachment from Texas forecasted a new policy which would keep negro troops out of southern states. Senator Sheppard said he would ask that no negro troops except those of Texas origin, be sent into Texas for training. Secretary Baker said that the Houston affair did not affect the policy of training negro troops in the south. It is within the jurisdiction of the commander of the southern department to move the troops to any other point in his territory without orders from Washington. Reports from Maj. Gen. Parker, commanding the southern division, said the situation was under control and that no further rioting was feared.

Move U. S. Troops

GALVESTON, Tex., Aug. 24.—Eight special interurban cars left here early today with United States troops for Houston, to assist in the control of the situation resulting from last night's disorders. One light field piece with a supply of ammunition was taken along. The troops are in command of Major Marcellus G. Spinks. A detachment of quartermaster troops also left for Houston.

WHERE DANIELS DARED

Here are some facts that ought to be known in connection with the attacks of Col. Robert M. Thompson, president of the navy league, on Secretary of the Navy Daniels.

Colonel Thompson is chairman of the board of directors of the International Nickel Co. The cost of nickel is more than half the cost of armor plate and enters largely into many kinds of munitions used by the navy. Some of the directors of the International Nickel Co. are directors and large stockholders in munitions plants, steel companies, and other concerns interested in war contracts. There are, for example, Ambrose Monell and W. E. Corey of the Midvale Steel Co., makers of projectiles and other munitions; E. C. Converse of United States Steel and Inspiration Copper; William Nelson Cromwell, one of the organizers of United States Steel, and Charles Hayden of the Utah Copper Co. Thompson himself is a director of the Oxford Copper Co.

All these directors of International Nickel have been hard hit on their pocketbook by Secretary Daniels' low-price policy.

Daniels has hammered down the price of armor-plate and projectiles to a point where there are no more exorbitant profits, only a fair margin. He has cut the price of copper to the navy half into as compared with the open market price. He has insisted on getting steel at cost plus a fair profit, less than half what the steel companies have been seeking the allies and the public.

In other words, Secretary Daniels has forced Colonel Thompson and his fellow directors of the International Nickel Co. and his associates in the navy league to give up millions of dollars of war profits. Naturally they are sore; naturally they would like to discredit Daniels; naturally they would like to see him resign.

That is all there is to the attacks of the navy league on Secretary Daniels and his administration of the navy department, and the public ought to keep this in mind whenever Colonel Thompson starts one of his periodic campaigns.

DROP WEARING MOURNING

Recently the Garment Makers' association suggested American women would greatly serve the success of the war if they would decide not to wear mourning for any relative or friend who dies during its duration.

Travelers from France all speak of the depression caused by the universal mourning worn by the women. The psychological influence of sadness is heightened by the yards and yards of somber black and swathing veils of crepe, in which the sorrowing sweethearts and wives and mothers have draped themselves.

The wearing of mourning is more or less an edict of fashion anyway. It is one of the barbarous customs that has lingered from the unhappy lot of the child widows of India.

One's grief may be poignant and sincere but that is no reason why one should inflict it on others who might be happy even when we are sad.

This year brilliant colors have been worn more than usual by women, young and old, and if this war still persists why may not our women do their bit by flaunting the red badge of courage instead of wearing the rusty unsanitary crepe that has long been considered the insignia of woe?

TO DEFINE SEDITION

In view of the many seditious utterances by soap box orators and other speakers throughout the country, Cleveland Moffett, of the American Defense society, the well known author, has appealed to President Wilson for an explicit definition of what words and acts constitute sedition and treason. Mr. Moffett holds that the manner in which some of the countries fighting side by side with the United States are assailed by aliens and some citizens of this country should be regarded as treason to the United States or as sedition that gives aid and comfort to our enemies. Already the department of justice is investigating many such cases and a decision relative to the matter will probably be forthcoming in the near future.

SECTARIAN AMENDMENT

Ex-Alderman John W. Daly who is a member of the constitutional convention made a strong plea for the exemption of the Lowell Textile school from the operation of the constitutional amendment which would cut off all state support. The amendment was adopted. Almed originally at religious schools, if adopted, it will cut off Harvard, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and all the textile schools of the state and all such institutions as are not absolutely under state control.

The exemption boards have a good opportunity to note the difference in the patriotic spirit of the men who appear before them. Some have no sense of obligation to their country for the freedom they enjoy, while others—the true patriots of our city—are ready to give their service and their lives if need be for the defense of the flag.

Dracul has kept ahead of us in the matter of tax rate for some years past but now that her rate is $23 per $1000 the prospect is that with our present system of financing, we shall soon catch up to the Dracul figure.

Some men who have never been known to have such a thing as a conscience are now putting up the claim that they are conscientious objectors to the war. How conscience doth make cowards of some people!

Statistics show that there has been a marked reduction in the importation of luxuries since 1914. That was to be expected and it has prepared the nation for the Hooverization that is soon to take place.

The U-boat toll for last week was much smaller than usual. The American destroyers are getting in their work and Edison's inventions have not yet been put in operation.

Mr. Carl D. Burt will take with him the good wishes of a host of Lowell friends who wish him unlimited success. He is an energetic teacher, and a good disciplinarian.

From this time on we may expect to hear occasionally that American fliers, American gunners and American sailors have fallen in the fray in France.

The Polish mission to this country will be well received. It can render service to the Allies by causing more of the Poles in this country to enlist.

Our public market would be all right if it were covered by a roof instead of a canopy that offers no protection against the weather.

Lowell has certainly had a fair share of the government orders and now Dracul scores. Why should the Navy Yard be slighted?

The frugal housewife's motto used to be, "Eat all you can, can the rest." Now it is "Can all you can, and eat the rest."

For both army and navy Lowell is doing as much as any city of its size in the country. So say the officials who know.

Plant Juice Was the Only Remedy

Well Known Lady Suffered For 15 Years Instantly Relieved By New Medicine

Life insurance companies have figures to prove that there is a steadily decreasing death rate in all ages up to about 45 in men, and about 55 in women, but for all ages over these the death rate is steadily increasing. The decrease is due to the universal campaign against the diseases of infancy, and the modern precautions taken to prevent such diseases, while the alarming increase in the death rate is due almost entirely to the diseases that attack adults.

Many have found quick deliverance from their suffering by the use of Plant Juice, the new herbal stomach remedy, which is composed of a combination of roots, herbs, barks and berries of numerous medicinal plants. Daily signed testimonials are received from local people, telling of the wonderful benefit derived from the use of this preparation.

One of the latest is that of Mrs. Marie Hamilton, who resides at No. 14 Carlton street, Lowell, Mass., and is popular among a large circle of friends. She stated:

"For the past 15 years I have suffered with stomach trouble; I had indigestion so bad that I could not retain the lightest kind of food in my stomach, and it would ferment and cause gas to form; I could not sleep, had headaches, dizzy spells, and the gas pressed so on my heart that I thought I had heart trouble; my kidneys and liver bothered me a great deal; I was constipated and felt weak and miserable all the time. I heard of Plant Juice and started to take it; now I am glad to say that I am feeling better and stronger in every way; I sleep well, and have a fine appetite; it has entirely relieved my constipation, and I have no further trouble with my kidneys or liver. I most heartily recommend Plant Juice as it is a God-send to people who have suffered as I did."

The Plant Juice Man is at Dows, the Druggist's, in Merrimack Square, Lowell, where he is daily meeting the local public, and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

William Meekin of Rockland a wireless operator, who has just returned from an interesting trip to Archangel, Russia, is now ready for another trip to Bordeaux, France. The sea ride to the northland was exciting, but still out of the zone frequented by the submarines. Meekin talks interestingly of Archangel, which has over 225,000 people and nothing but long cabins for buildings. The streets are unkempt and dirty. The people everywhere are waiting for supplies of all kinds. They will buy anything up there. Mr. Meekin sold a pair of his old discarded shoes, with soles and uppers broken, for just five dollars.

Cape Cod's Wart Chatter

This is from the East Brewster correspondent of the Yarmouth Register: "We have to express our gratitude to our worthy neighbor, Mr. Oscar I. Rogers, for the disappearance of a stubborn wart. Mr. Rogers has no rival as a wart chatter on Cape Cod. At one time during his treatment of the wart he thought he would have to resort to the drastic measure of burying a piece of pork in order to expedite the cure, but the experience succumbed to the mysterious movements of Mr. Rogers' thumb. Mr. James McConnell, one of our summer visitors, was also successfully treated by Mr. Rogers. We believe that not even a concrete wart could resist Oscar's magical power. ## Alkali In Soap Bad For The Hair

Soap should be used every carefully. If you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulitised coconut oil (which is pure and grassless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulitised coconut oil at any pharmacy. It's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

A Free Man
Way down in Oklahoma where the wells are spouting oil And the humid heat of summer causes mercury to boil, they were celebrating Belgian day. And the Welcoming Committee wanted everything C. K. So they decked themselves in garments of a highly formal style. And each member wore a frock coat and a stiff and shiny tie. They wrapped themselves in waistcoats and in starched shirts to boot. But the governor attended in a Fatsuit!

Beach Suit!
The Welcoming Committee were stewed in the heat. They sweltered from their Kellys to their patent-leather feet. But partially in envy and in disapproval too. They frowned upon the governor, so cool and calm to view. He met their frowns untroubled, as his eyes in pity dwelt. On various committee men who seemed about to melt. He watched them sweat and suffer, each conventional saloot. While he was blithely comfy in his Palm Beach Suit!

Plymouth Parson and Pythons

The Plymouth town crier, that tells this tale, starts off by recording that the circus had been in town and it was so hot that the grass got afire near the tent. Late that night a local clergyman and his wife, taking advantage of the lesser temperature of the late hours, took a walk up to the monument and back home to cool their perspiring brows before retiring.

Nearly home the pastor's attention was attracted by something long and slim lying in the roadway. The puzzled parson rubbed, but the thing didn't move. Then he poked it with his foot and it wiggled. Being a minister he couldn't swear but probably exclaimed "great snakes," for by that time he had discovered another one, just like the first, stretched out home on the lawn of the Episcopal church.

Mrs. Minister, after returning home by the shortest route, which in this case was the longest way round the snakes. And they were long snakes, six or seven feet long each one of them. Think of meeting 14 feet of snakes in front of your own church, and strange snakes that you had never met before, at that.

They didn't wiggle much. They seemed either overcome by the heat or victims of the drug habit. Now the circus had gone and the parson wasn't taking any chances of having those "sarpents" getting into his church, nor he wasn't taking them home with him either, that is, not yet. If he left them in the road 'till morning he could see where the women of the neighborhood would have snatched them and some of the men would take the pledge. So he got an axe and a board and he poked the board under the snake's neck and chanced the board with the axe. Then he did the same to the other snake, for he wasn't playing any favorite and the snakes were in the way of his hitting the board. So they got their tails cut right off just back of where their ears would be if snakes had ears. Now the parson has two big snake skins, and the snake charming with the tent show must be shy two of her pets.

GERMAN FATALLY BURNED IN MYS. TERIOUS EXPLOSION ON TANK SHIP

PROVIDENCE, Aug. 24.—Leo Vonpelt, 43, a German deck hand on a Standard Oil company tank ship, was badly burned yesterday afternoon by an explosion in the vessel's engine room. He will probably die, it was stated at the hospital.

Vonpelt was working alone in the engine room when members of the crew heard an explosion. He rushed on deck with his clothing afire and dived overboard. He was unable to tell how the explosion occurred, and investigation failed to show what exploded. The whole affair is a mystery.

WORCESTER EXCISE BOARD REVOKES LICENSE OF THE NEW CITY HOTEL

WORCESTER, Aug. 24.—The liquor license of the New City hotel at Myrtle and Southbridge streets was revoked yesterday by the license commission, after a hearing on charges made by Chief of Police George H. Hill that the hotel was a place of ill repute in violation of the law. Frank J. Conlin, proprietor of the hotel, admitted the truth of Chief Hill's charges.

There has been much complaint recently about the loose way in which the liquor trade is handled in some of the hotels, especially on Sunday, and Chairman Elmer C. Potter of the license commission said, after the New City license had been revoked, that he hoped the action would serve as a warning to the other hotel men of the city.

LEE LIND DIES SUDDENLY ON WAY TO HOSPITAL IN WORCESTER

WORCESTER, Aug. 24.—Lee Lind, aged 55, whose address is not known to the police, fell at Commercial and Exchange streets last night and died on the way to the City hospital in the police ambulance. He was identified by a bankbook in his pocket, which had 5375 listed on the Merchants' National bank. Surgeon Smith tried to revive him, but was unsuccessful.

A letter signed "Daughter," from 1422 East 55th street, Cleveland, was the only means of finding any relative that he had. An attempt will be made to reach her. An autopsy was performed in the City hospital. Death was believed to be caused by heart trouble.

Judge Daniel J. Mario, it is alleged, disappeared recently from Springfield, Me., with the proceeds of the raffle of a musical instrument. Patrolman Goodwin of that town came here in search of him. He went to the Italian colony, where it was represented that Goodwin was seeking roommates for a Springfield factory. Mario appeared to get the job and was arrested. His wife's requisition and Patrolman Goodwin took him on the next train to Springfield.

RUSSIA WILL BE RULED BY RUSSIAN PEOPLE

This is another of the series of articles by Charles Edward Russell, staff writer of The Sun, who has just returned from Russia, where he spent three months as a member of the official United States commission to the new Russian government.

BY CHARLES EDWARD RUSSELL
(Copyright, 1917, by the Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

Many other things about Russia may be doubtful, but there is one Russian certainty all may bank upon with confidence.

Barring only German success, democracy has come there to stay. Not half way democracy nor a fake mis-called by democracy's name.

The goods—the real thing. Russia will be ruled by the Russian people. They will rule it absolutely.

Autocracy, whether frankly labelled with the name of a czar or neatly disguised as a constitutional monarchy, is a dead one in Russia. Keep the Germans out and it will never again have a look in there.

Wise things may be done; also foolish. But whether wise or foolish, whatever is done will be by the grace of the people of Russia, free and independent.

Reactionary influences in this and other countries are striving hard to create the impression that Russia has or is about to have a dictator.

You can put all that aside as the idle dreams of troglodytes. I don't know any climate on earth that is more unhealthy for dictators now than the climate of Russia. Gentlemen planning to go into that line of business are earnestly advised to look elsewhere. The prospects are not salubrious.

Russia will not have a dictator and, contrary to the prevailing opinion, does not need a dictator. It is no one man country and never will be again.

I don't know any country where the national democratic spirit is stronger, more resolute or better awake to its job.

Wise democratic heads in Russia are now studying outlines for the Russian constitution. No one need be astonished if, when their work is done and the constitution adopted, it proves to be the most advanced document of the kind ever put together.

No one need be astonished if it provides for a government more directly and truly democratic than any other nation on earth has ever had.

Even now, without any formulated constitution, the people are supreme. The most powerful institution in all Russia is the National Council of Workmen, Soldiers' and Peasants' Delegates, and that is a purely democratic power.

Local councils, similarly formed, furnish for the time being the governing steam in the municipalities. The national council furnishes it in national affairs.

The national council is the only source of authority. What it says goes.

Its 830 delegates were elected from all parts of Russia by men and women voters equally endowed with citizenship.

It is the most remarkable legislative body in the world, and, as it looks to me, the most significant, the most satisfactory and admirable.

It is composed chiefly of farmers and workmen; the actual producers and toilers.

Now in every country these are the vast majority of the population.

Therefore, in every country, if we are to have real democracy, these should compose the legislative power.

In this country, and in England there is a strange superstition that nobody can make laws or manage government except lawyers, bankers, exploiters and professional politicians.

Well, then, give fervent thanks to Russia. She has knocked the spots out of all that fol-de-rol.

Her national council does business with rapidity, good sense and good judgment. She doesn't miss the lawyers, except to bless the Lord they are not there.

Lawyers constitute less than one per cent of the population and hold in our country 70 per cent of the legislative offices. They can't see that in Russia.

Also, to arrive at the next point for thanksgiving, five of the delegates in the national council are women.

Women suffrage was achieved in Russia the moment the revolution was a success. It achieved itself automatically, without effort. Nobody argued or campaigned for it. Nobody had to point out that it was a good thing and a simple act of justice and ought to be adopted. Democracy had won and nobody in Russia had any other idea of democracy except a democracy that includes men and women.

If you will stop and study that little fact for a time, and let it seep into your mind and heart, and look at it from every angle, you will, I am sure, discover how comical a position we assume when we undertake our favorite superior and condescending attitude toward the new democracy.

In a short time elections will be held throughout Russia to choose delegates to the first constituent assembly, which will adopt a constitution and help to launch the Russian republic.

Men and women will vote for these delegates. Women will be among those chosen and will sit in the assembly and help to make the constitution.

It will not be necessary for anybody to argue for this privilege. Everybody will think it perfectly natural and right.

The national council adjourned on July 7, but it left in charge of the government its executive committee of 250, apportioned among the workmen, soldiers and farmers, and this executive committee is now running things in Russia.

It operates the machine. You do not hear anything about it for reasons I shall tell you hereafter. But you can discount any stories you may read from day to day about anybody else "ruling" Russia. This is the only ruling power, being the representatives of the people.

The rest of the world seems to have a fear that there may be a counter revolution and a return of the old conditions.

Unless German victory and German influence can bring it back to life, there isn't anything else anywhere in the world quite so dead as the old order in Russia.

It's leader than a mackerel that for sanitary reasons the board of health has ordered to be cremated.

If the Germans, assisted by the American doughfaces and American pro-Germans, do not break through that front not even the ghost of the old order will ever come again.

If they do, you will see the czar back in the winter palace and you ought to have a clear understanding as to who put him there.

Truth is eloquent—forcible without being bisterous in connection with the great infallible remedy, Dows' Diarrhoea and Cholera Syrup. All druggists.

MAN BURNED IN EXPLOSION

Accident at the Newton Mfg. Co. Plant This Forenoon

Roy Richter Badly Burned and Now In the Hospital

Roy Richter of 27 Lawrence street was badly burned about the face, arms and shoulders this morning shortly before 10 o'clock by an explosion in the foundry of the Newton Mfg. Co., in Warrenville. Richter was employed in the printing department of the plant and his work was considered particularly dangerous. Every precaution had been taken by the company to place the danger at a minimum and the company feels that somebody has been careless.

Richter was working on a primer in the loading department and there was a box of powder nearby. In some manner or other the powder was ignited, causing an explosion which burned Richter badly. According to witnesses a number of girls employed in the same department fainted and a fire alarm which was supposed to be the signal for the employees to leave the plant was rung in, adding to the general excitement.

Richter was removed to St. John's hospital and this afternoon the authorities reported his injuries very serious. There was no other injury done as far as could be ascertained.

Forty years ago, when Samuel Fawcett's paper mill at Cornwall-on-Hudson closed down, Fawcett assured his employees that they would get their back pay sometime. Recently his son appeared with a list of the former employees and paid to them or their heirs the entire sum, with interest, for the 40 years.

NEWS OF CASES IN POLICE COURT

There was a number of long drawn out cases in police court today and the session continued for nearly three hours.

Albert B. Cameron was charged with a violation of the automobile law on August 17, and after the defendant and witnesses had explained the circumstances Judge Fisher ordered the case placed on file. In the course of the testimony it developed that Cameron had been found running his machine in Garden street well into the evening without having the front lights on. Defendant explained that he had turned the lights on when he left his garage by means of an electric switch. There was a loose connection in the electric system and the lights went out unknown to the defendant, because he had been driving on well lighted thoroughfares. The court accepted his explanation.

Joseph Gauthier was charged with using profane language and because of the fact that the uncomplimentary terms which he did use were not considered profane Judge Fisher found him not guilty. Officers Lemay and Connelly testified to finding him at Merrimack and Suffolk streets at 2 o'clock this morning and said that he had addressed Officer Lemay with abusive language. When it was brought out just what phrases he had used, the court found that the law did not classify them as profane and despite the fact that they were highly uncomplimentary there is no punishment provided for their utterance.

Chauffeur Fined $20

James R. Ellis was summoned on two complaints—one of drunkenness and the other of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. The prosecution testified that he had damaged the auto of Fred Horne while the machine was parked in Middle street a week ago yesterday, the day of the soldiers' and sailors' celebration. After a long elucidation of the technical parts of an automobile, the defendant was found guilty on the charge of operating his machine while under the influence of liquor and fined $20.

CRAP GAME HOLD-UP

MEN SENTENCED

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Albert Johnson, twenty-eight, and Eugene F. Price, thirty-four, who took part in the hold-up of men in a "crap game" in the Hotel St. Francis, West Thirty-seventh street, May 16, were convicted in general sessions yesterday of robbery to the city prison for a week by Judge McIntyre.

The complaining witness was Arnold Rothstein, who testified that he was robbed of a stockpin valued at $2500 and $1200. He claimed to have saved $20,000 by shoving it under a rug.

After the verdict Judge McIntyre said Price is wanted in Cleveland on a charge of murdering a paymaster and would be held until the Ohio officials had communicated further.

Johnson admitted five convictions for larceny and three prison terms. Price confessed one previous conviction as a pickpocket. The penalty for robbery in the first degree is from one to twenty years, and from forty years to life for second offenders.

Four men were implicated in the hold-up, the others being Henry Unklicz, who testified against Price and Johnson, and Daniel O'Donnell, who demanded a separate trial and is in the tomb.

SAMMIES WOULD RATHER FIGHT THAN DIG

AMERICAN TRAINING CAMP IN FRANCE, Aug. 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—One of the greatest problems American officers have before them is impressing upon their men the absolute importance of learning the best ways of keeping under cover.

The American soldier is not a natural "digger-in." He is much like his Canadian brother in arms in that respect.

It is the American spirit as it was that of the Canadians to upstate and fight, but the world war has long since passed that stage and now in the long wear and worry of a struggle of attrition the best commander is the one who best conserves his men by keeping them under cover. One of the greatest reasons why the Germans still are in France and Belgium is their wonderful facility for digging themselves in. They have a perfect passion for it and an incentive as well, for the allied artillery never ceases to pound them day and night.

The German belief that they can dig faster than a modern army can advance is one of the principles of their defensive tactics, notwithstanding all that has been told along this line, notwithstanding the heroic efforts to rouse his enthusiasm over the pick and shovel, the American soldier has remained decidedly lukewarm. He came across to France to fight the Germans, he says, and not to dig a hole and look at them through a spy glass.

It is purely a matter of temperament, and there seems to be little doubt now that only actual battle experience will convince American soldiers that the ability to take advantage of any bit of cover is one of the greatest assets the modern man at arms can have.

The first fighting spirit of our troops, said an American training officer yesterday, "but the men must be made to understand as far as possible that impetuosity must be subordinated to steadiness. The men must advance given time and go no further. Every step of infantry advance must first be worked out with the artillery, and when the plan is arranged it must be strictly adhered to."

The Natural Fighter
The natural fighting man, it seems, has a natural antipathy to digging in. Even in these late months of war British Tommies would much rather remain above ground and stand chances of getting killed by shells than to dig the deep dugouts so adored by the Germans.

Fighting from shell holes also is an art and one that Americans must learn before taking their place in the allied line. German prisoners declare they would rather fight from shell holes on an active part of the front than from a regularly organized trench system. The latter affords the artillery too good a target, while isolated shell holes are difficult for the enemy's guns to deal with.

and stripes predominant. The long festive board ran the length of the room and at the head of this was the table for the guests. Shortly after 8 o'clock the guests and hosts filed in their places while the band played a quartet well-known to them with an appropriate air. Three cheers and a tiger were given.

WELD ANOTHER LINK IN FRIENDSHIP'S CHAIN

A famous old song makes a query as to whether old acquaintances should be forgotten. The question came up at the Waverly hotel last evening and those present wished to make their negative answer so emphatic that remained at the hotel well into midnight to express their opinion in the matter.

The occasion was a reception tendered to Col. W. L. Grayson of Savannah, Ga., and Dr. M. A. Morris of the same city and formerly of Lowell. The hosts were half a hundred or so Lowell men who term themselves the Savannah club of Lowell, Mass. The scene was the spacious and well appointed dining hall of the Waverly hotel.

Col. W. L. Grayson is what novelists delight in calling "a southern gentleman." He gained his title of colonel in the Spanish-American war when he served with the First Georgia regiment. He is a past grand worthy president of the Eagles and at present holds a position in the municipal life of his own town.

Dr. M. A. Morris is a native of Lowell but has lived in the south for the past 27 years. His visits to Lowell have been frequent and lately when accompanied by his southern friend have been more than heralded. A number of those present last evening have visited Savannah and Col. Grayson and Dr. Morris have always been their hosts while in the south. Last night they attempted in a feeble way to return the hospitality which was shown them as visitors.

The dining hall of the Waverly was decorated as any meeting place of gentlemen from the north and south should be decorated—with the stars

COL. W. L. GRAYSON

Bill told of the hospitality which the guests of the evening had shown to the Lowell men and said that the purpose of the evening's assembly was to repay, in a degree, that hospitality. He then called upon Col. Grayson himself to tell those present just what he thought of Lowell as he had seen it during his recurring visits. The genial colonel spoke in part as follows:

"My dear friends: I use these words with their true meaning because next to my home city of Savannah I respect the men of Lowell most. Your toastmaster introduced me as coming from the little city of Savannah. Savannah is little as cities go, yet it is one of the largest of the Empire state. However, I have been asked to speak about Lowell and I cannot mention the name without mentioning the impression of democracy which the men of this city have made upon me. I consider the state of Massachusetts the foundation of democracy as well as the cradle of liberty. It makes me really happy to be among real men—real human, lovable men."

"Five years ago I came to your city as a stranger merely to visit the family of my friend, Dr. Morris. Because of the reception which I received from you gentlemen at that time I have continued coming. I only hope that it may be my privilege to continue my visits for many years. There is only one way in which a man may gain happiness and that is by doing something for others. So I find this spirit of self-sacrifice especially dominant at this evening's gathering."

"But enough of that. We are here to enjoy ourselves and I should celebrate my 47th birthday anniversary in Lowell. As a modest man—one who reveres the flag and that for which it stands—I greet you men of the old Bay State in '61 as we know each other this evening, there would have been no Civil war. Why are the men of Georgia and Massachusetts and Alabama and New Hampshire all united in spirit today? Why—to make the world safe for democracy."

Mayor O'Donnell was the next speaker and in a few remarks he extended the hospitality of Lowell to the guests and expressed his pleasure and good fortune at having been present at all of their reception in Lowell.

Among the other speakers were Joseph J. Burns, John Dawson, Michael Markham, Edward Burns of Somerville and a number of others. Dr. Morris was called upon also and he spoke much in the same vein as Col. Grayson and interspersed his remarks with a few reminiscences of his friend. Francis Connor sang "The Sunshine of Your Smile" and the Honey Boy quartet offered a number of patriotic and popular selections, including a song written by Leonard Brown and dedicated to Lowell, "Lowell, I'm Returning to You."

When Col. Grayson was asked to tell what he thought of Lowell he said: "A city is nothing more nor less than a geographical position. That in a degree is what has made Lowell. But overshadowing all else in the makeup of a city are the men who compose its citizenship. In Lowell I find the spirit of hospitality among your men higher than in any other city in which I have visited and I have been from coast to coast and gulf to sound."

Those present at last evening included Col. Grayson, Dr. Morris, Mayor O'Donnell, Commissioner James E. Donnelly, Hon. John T. Sparks, Charles D. Paige, Dr. Thomas Cuff, Edward F. Saunders, Emory Harris, Martin Conway, Timothy Donohue, Terence Leonard, John J. Lee, James McCausland, Michael Clancy, John H. Farrell, Michael McCune, Arthur Burns, Gottlieb Thuma, John D. The committee in charge of last evening's affair was as follows: John J. Lee, chairman; Terence Leonard, Robert Manning and Joseph J. Burns.

MAYOR WANTS BETTER TRAIN SERVICE

The following letter, addressed to Mayor O'Donnell, having to do with better train service to Ayer, is self explanatory:

Boston & Maine Railroad, J. H. Eustis, Temporary Receiver, Lowell, Mass., Aug. 23, 1917, File N. 74.

Hon. Mayor O'Donnell, Mayor, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:—I acknowledge the receipt of your favor of the 22nd, in relation to better passenger service on the Stony Brook branch, between Lowell and Ayer, on Sunday. I have referred your letter to the superintendent of this division, Mr. H. C. Robinson, Concord, N. H. He has stated to him that there are many complaints from the public in general on account of the fact that the train does not run on Sunday, and if we did put on a train it doubtless would be well patronized, and requested him to give the matter consideration and to advise you the result.

I have no doubt but what you will hear from him in relation to this matter within a few days.

Yours, W. G. Parkin, General Agent.

FEDERAL CONTROL OF COAL INDUSTRY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Completion of the administration's program for federal control of the coal industry was in sight today when officials turned their attention to the fixing of retail prices and the regulation of distribution. Dr. Harry A. Garfield, appointed to head the coal administration, will take active charge of the work as soon as he finishes his duties with the committee fixing prices on wheat.

The president's action in establishing prices on coal, and the authority for operators and jobbers and limiting the profits to be made by bituminous wholesalers, is considered the most important step yet taken towards bringing the industry under government supervision. In case the mines fail to observe the regulations prescribed, the president has the power given him in the food bill to take over and operate the properties.

Mrs. R. G. O'Dowd, who maintains a farm in Idaho, sent a pound of butter to her mother, Mrs. Nica, France, by parcel post, the $900-mile journey taking 60 days. The butter was in excellent condition when it reached its destination.

LICENSE BOARD

testimony took the matter under advisement.

Patrolman Michael J. Lennon testified to visiting Donohue's saloon Liberty square Aug. 13, at 10.30 p. m. He found several men at the bar, many of them drunk and disorderly. He saw two young men at the end of the bar very drunk and one had his hand on a glass of beer. Mr. Donohue, who was at the other end of the bar, came from behind when I called his attention to the condition of the man. I asked what was in the glass and he said, "It is beer, it is beer." I took the glass and we brought the man to the box and arrested him. Other officers at station house saw the condition of the man we arrested.

At this point a certificate from the state board of health showing the analysis of the liquid was produced by Supt. Welch after which a release signed by the man arrested was offered.

Officer Lennon continuing with his testimony said he believed the man was under the influence of liquor. He believed he was drunk by his appearance. On cross-examination Officer Lennon said he was appointed a member of the liquor squad about three weeks ago. He visited Mr. Donohue's saloon about once a day since then.

This is the first complaint made against Mr. Donohue so far as he remembered. Patrolman Noye accompanied Officer Lennon. He testified there were 15 to 20 men in the saloon. He would swear there were not 30 men in the saloon, but would not swear that there were two bartenders besides Mr. Donohue behind the bar. He did not have any conversation with Mr. Donohue. He glanced over the crowd and saw this man standing at the bar. He beckoned to Mr. Donohue, "Come over to us." He took about two steps forward and took the glass the man was drinking from. He brought the glass to the station in the patrol with the prisoner. "I tasted the liquor in the saloon."

Officer Joseph V. M. Noye corroborated the testimony offered by Officer Lennon. He said that the man was in Donohue's saloon was drunk, the appearance of his face indicated that he was drunk.

Other officers testified as to the man's condition when brought to the police station. At this point a request was taken in order that officers for the government would have a chance to appear and offer testimony relative to the man's condition. But later counsel and Supt. Welch agreed upon the testimony that would be offered and the hearing was resumed.

Mr. Patrick Donohue, the licensee, complained that he had been at his present location for 14 years and this was the first time that he had ever been called before the commission. He said he had two bartenders working for him on the night in question. Mr. Donohue said he was on the floor at the time the man who was arrested was put out of the place about 1 o'clock that afternoon. There were three others with him. They insisted on being served and Mr. Donohue said he had to put two of them out of the place.

Continuing with his testimony Mr. Donohue said: "About 10.30 that night I was out on the floor when a man called my attention to a plate of food which he had received from the man who went down to talk with him and while reading it, with my back toward the door, Mr. Lennon came in, and called my attention to the man at the bar. I went down to where he was and found the four men that I had put out in the afternoon. The man was placed under arrest and subsequently I found out that he lived in Peabody and went to his house with the intention of bringing his here as a witness. But when I reached there I was told that he was working in Ayer. My reason for trying to locate him was that he might give me some information that might be material. I did not see the man enter my saloon."

Harry Monahan said he had been working for Mr. Donohue for the past two years, spare time as a bartender. He was working on the afternoon in question with another bartender and Mr. Donohue, and had refused to serve the man who had been arrested. "I told them they had enough and would not serve them," said Mr. Monahan. "They came back about 10.30 that night and while Mr. Donohue was on the floor reading a post card, I came to the bar and ordered drinks. I refused to serve them."

Lawrence Cavanaugh said he was in the saloon with a friend and ordered two half drinks. He and his friend drank them and two more were ordered. Mr. Monahan served the drinks. After drinking the first glass and ordering the second they got into a conversation. He said that the man placed under arrest took Mr. Cavanaugh's glass of beer and was drinking it when another man took it away from him and tasted it. He afterwards learned that the man was Officer Lennon; he never knew him before. Witness said that he heard Mr. Monahan refuse to serve the man a drink and had ordered him out of the place.

John A. Shes, testified that he had seen Mr. Donohue push two men out of the saloon in the afternoon. He went into the saloon about 10.30 o'clock that night to get a glass of beer before going to bed and saw a man take a glass of beer off the counter. The beer was near Mr. Cavanaugh. Witness said that the man who picked up the beer was the same man who had been ejected during the afternoon by Mr. Donohue. He said that he knew the beer belonged to Mr. Cavanaugh because he knew the man and saw the intoxicated man reach over and take it while Mr. Cavanaugh's back was turned.

Counsel for defense argued for a dismissal of the complaint contending that the evidence presented did not prove a delivery had been made by Mr. Donohue or any of his agents or servants on the night in question. He stated that on the contrary, the service had been refused, that the man had once been ejected and also that on his second appearance the man had been refused service.

Supt. Welch argued that it was admitted the man was drunk, and the only question was relative to service. The commissioners took the matter under advisement.

SENATE STILL BATTLING WITH WAR TAX

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—The battle over conscription of wealth to pay for the war continued in the senate today, with the leaders hopeful of disposing of the war tax bill's income tax section before the adjournment. The bill, as proposed, would have been cleared to begin the fight over war profits, which promises to be even more spectacular than the present one. Today's chief contest was expected to come over Senator La Follette's amendments for the income tax schedule, which would raise about $600,000,000 and $500,000,000 respectively and Senator Hiram Bland's substitute designed to raise about $500,000,000.

CREDIT OF $100,000,000 FOR RUSSIA

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Another credit of $100,000,000 to Russia was made today by the American government. This brings the total of credits extended so far to the Russian government to $750,000,000. Some of the money probably will be used to purchase railway supplies and equipment in this country. Approximately 2500 locomotives, tens of thousands of freight cars and many thousands of tons of steel rails and other railway equipment are needed at once and efforts are being made by producers in this country to push shipments.

MILITARY NOTES OF LOWELL AND THE NEIGHBORING CAMPS

Corp. Leo E. Dion of 171 Cushing street, who is corporal of the third company of Co. 88th Artillery stationed at Fort Stark, N. H., at present enjoying a furlough and visiting his friends and relatives in Lowell.

Corp. Dion has made an excellent record in the military service since his enlistment in June, 1915. Eleven months ago he was promoted to sergeant and corporal and within another month he expects to go to West Point for a course of training there, after which he will undoubtedly receive a commission. He was chosen from the academy and this alone is sufficient proof of his military ability.

Co. 87 of the State Guard held its regular drill at the academy last evening, and a number of Lowell young men who have been chosen in the selective draft for the new national army were on hand to receive instructions in the rudiments of the war game from a non-commissioned officer of the company. The program will be resumed at the academy at 7.45 this evening and there will be a number of competent instructors on hand to teach any drafted men who wish to try for a non-commissioned berth in the new army.

Visitors to Boxford, where Battery F is located, will have to have official passes signed by an officer of the units camped there and counterchecked by the camp adjutant if they wish to visit their soldier friends hereafter. This was the dictum sent forth yesterday by Col. John H. Sherburne. The visitors were interfering seriously with camp discipline and the only method in vogue this civil was to curtail privileges. It is "for the good of the service."

The meeting was called to order by Mayor O'Hearn, who was not present, but being absent. The latter came in later, however, but not in time to vote on the award of the contracts. The first matter taken up was the drawing of 31 gravel contracts for the city streets. The superior court was called in this city on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in September, and Commissioner Warnock was designated to draw the jurors, and the following names were called:

Joseph E. Boyd, 378 Concord street, manager.
